

Schuler, Hagnauer re-elected

Incumbent Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler was re-elected Tuesday, polling an unofficial vote tally of 5,905 over his nearest opponent, Daniel J. Parney, who received 4,667, in the city's 37 precincts.

Based on unofficial returns at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens, the third candidate in the mayor's race here, Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur, polled a total of 1,344.

The voters also unseated Alderman Charles Douglas in the First Ward, Alderman Glen Sprankle in the Fourth Ward and Fifth Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey in the Fifth Ward.

They re-elected Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman in the second ward, and Alderman Paul Ray Bowler in the seventh ward. Voters also elected Casner Skubish in the First Ward, Carl L. Kittel in Ward Three, Sharon S. Perjak in the Fourth Ward, Jake Varadian in the Fifth Ward and Stephen S. Salich, a school board member, in the Sixth Ward.

The unofficial returns gave Schuler 49.5 percent of the vote, Parney 39.2

Von Dee Cruse, Nick Petrillo also win new four-year terms of office percent and Decatur 11.3 percent.

The outcome was never in doubt when returns from the polling places started coming into the city clerk's office. The mayor gained an early lead and held it throughout the evening until the last returns came in—precincts 13 and 28—about 10:30 p.m.

The first precinct, No. 2 located in the Metro-East Sanitary district offices at 1801 Madison Ave.—reported at 7:25 p.m.

Schuler's margin of 1,138 over Parney was determined by the final vote from those two precincts but reached around 900 earlier and continued to mount.

Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer, like Schuler, maintained an early lead over his opponent, Tom Nesbit, polling an unofficial return of 7,518 over Nesbit's 4,027 to win him another term.

The voting also returned Von Dee Cruse, Granite City township assessor to another term in office. Cruse tallied 6,029 votes, compared to an unofficial 5,000 for his opponent Shirley J. Voegelé, a former chief deputy in Cruse's office.

Also winning re-election in the balloting was City Treasurer Nick Petrillo. He polled an unofficial total of 7,419 votes to defeat William Hebert, a former city fireman, who received an unofficial count of 3,946.

While Stevens was unopposed in his bid for re-election, he received the largest vote of any of the city candidates—a total of 10,526.

George Sykes, a member of the Park Board whose term expired this year, was unopposed in Tuesday's election, but he also polled a high vote of 10,483, second only to Stevens' vote in the city balloting.

Extent of the voting in the 37 precincts was spotty and a much heavier turnout was recorded in some precincts, as compared to others. Precinct 23, for example, cast a total vote of 558 while precinct 29 reported a total of 225. Precinct 31 had a total vote of 523 votes cast, but a total of only 50 votes was reported in precinct 2, the first to report.

A total of 448 votes was cast in precinct 19 and 386 were cast in precinct 8.

As the evening wore on, it became obvious that Schuler had outstripped Parney by enough votes and about 9 p.m. Parney conceded the election before his campaign workers and supporters at the Moose Hall where they had gathered.

Parney said that he was trailing to the extent that he could not overtake Schuler's vote count and that he therefore had called Schuler and conceded the election.

Three incumbent aldermen defeated

Granite City voters elected five new aldermen and re-elected two in the city's seven wards during balloting Tuesday.

Three incumbents who had sought re-election were defeated, but the voters returned Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler and Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman to new terms in office.

Bowler in Ward Seven polled the heaviest single aldermanic vote with 1,327 votes in six precincts of his ward. He defeated Michael L. Werths, 1,025; and Ronald C. Markarian, 163. Casner Skubish was elected alderman of Ward One with 397 votes over incumbent alderman, Charles Douglas' 348. William Dallas tallied 189 and Leroy Mangiaracino 81.

In Ward Two, the voters re-elected Fred "Pat" Schuman Jr. who polled a total of 833 votes to defeat one opponent, Joseph R. McGinness Sr.

The seven precincts of Ward Three gave Carl Kittel 1,175 votes over 281 for Nelson D. Dunlap, making Kittel the unofficial winner in that Ward. Sharon J. Perjak received an unofficial tally of 750 votes in Ward Four to take that post over John Zikovich, 733, and incumbent alderman Glen Sprankle, 587.

Jake Varadian won the Ward Five aldermanic post with 762 votes. Incumbent Lloyd Bailey polled 571 votes in the seven precincts of the ward. Stephen S. Salich, a member of the Granite City school board, won in Ward Six, polling 852 votes to defeat Woodrow Moad, 742; Walter C. Milton, 385, and Bill Smithson, 79.

The aldermen elected and re-elected in Tuesday's balloting will be seated following the vote canvass and the filing of official returns at the county clerk.

Stevens said it is possible to seat the aldermen before the first meeting in May, if the city council passes an ordinance to do so, although it is yet undecided as to what action will be taken.

New GC Steel city bond issue

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

A $10,500,000 bond issue to finance pollution control and pollution treatment equipment at Granite City Steel was approved by aldermen last night under the city's industrial revenue bond program.

The steel firm and many others have utilized Granite City municipal bonds for plant construction and equipment installation in recent years. Stated purposes include the alleviation of unemployment and the encouragement of economic activity.

E. F. Hutton and Co. is underwriter for the new 30-year bonds, on which a floating annual interest rate of 6 to 12 percent was set. The city revised its ordinance to allow the bond proceeds to be loaned to National Steel Corp. to carry out the work at its division here.

The $10,500,000 will provide: —$6,300,000 for a wastewater plant to handle byproducts of the coke plant.

—$2,300,000 for pollution equipment at such facilities as the bag houses, sinter plant, slab cutter, air filter and argon station.

—$1,200,000 for secondary emission treatment at the basic oxygen furnace.

—And $700,000 for construction loan interest and bond issue costs.

The program was approved 11-0 after it was explained by Attorney Casper Nighohossian. He said his fee will be $7,000. A much larger fee would have been possible, Alderman Paul Bowler and other council members said in praising Nighohossian for his work.

New amendments of a June 25, 1973, ordinance allow for bond facsimile signatures by city officials; call for pollution to be defined as including sewage pollution; permit direct loans to the industry carrying out the project and retiring the bonds; provide for creation of financing agreements amounting to all or part of the project costs; and enable investment of idle bond funds in bank re-purchase agreements or prime commercial paper having national ratings, as well as previously authorized investments.

The amendments were developed by the Chapman and Cutler bond attorneys, Nighohossian said. The city will be held harmless on any bond debt to the greatest degree possible, he added after the question was raised by Alderman Sam Whitmer, presiding officer at the council meeting.

The 1981 National Steel bond series will be dated as of April 1, with the Pittsburgh National Bank as trustee.

In other business last night, the City Council:

—Requested bids May 4 to supply equipment needed for weed cutting.

—Authorized the 1981 Almad Shrine Temple circus parade in Granite City at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 9.

—Purchased $1,117 low-band and $702 high-band "walkie-talkie" radios for the Auxiliary Police, matching iden-

Egg hunt April 18 at ice rink

The annual Easter Egg Hunt for preschool through first grade youngsters, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, will be held Saturday morning, April 18, in the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

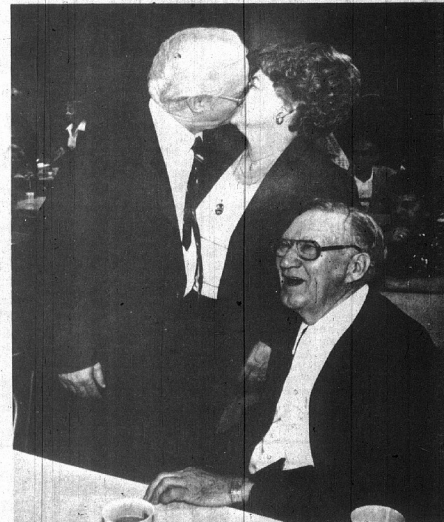

In the past few days, the park district office staff has filled more than 2,500 colored plastic eggs with jelly beans, it was learned.

The eggs will be hidden in straw, which is strewn about the floor of the rink-pavilion and will be divided among three age groups.

Prizes will be distributed to youngsters collecting the most eggs, but to qualify for a prize a child must be a resident of the Granite City Park District, a spokesman advised.

Each child also must provide his or her own container in which to gather the eggs.

First grade youngsters may collect eggs starting at 9 a.m. April 18; children in kindergarten at 9:30 a.m.; and preschool age youngsters at 10 a.m.

GC proclaimed disaster area

Madison County has officially been declared a disaster area by Illinois Governor James Thompson as the toll of damage from Friday night's tornado has climbed to more than $6.8 million and additional claims are being received daily.

The governor's proclamation will allow tax assessment breaks for homes and businesses which were damaged in the storm. The federal Small Business Administration also is being asked to make low-interest loans available to businesses damaged in the tornado.

The majority of the damage in the Quad-City area was caused by what the National Weather Service has classified "a small tornado," which crossed Granite City from East 23rd Street and Namecki Road, through the Glenview Subdivision, into the Lexington Subdivision and then jumped into the Steelcrest Subdivision east of the city.

The Edwardsville Estates Mobile Home Court west of Edwardsville was then struck before the twister unleashed its greatest fury on downtown Edwardsville.

Damage to county-owned buildings, including the new county jail, has been estimated at $1 million, half of which will be for repairs to the roof of the jail. Hoodtop heating and air conditioning units were ripped off and there were large holes left in the roof.

Numerous downtown Edwardsville businesses were damaged and damage is expected to approach $5 million there.

The loss in Granite City is being roughly estimated at $1.5 million, according to Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse's report to the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) office in Granite City.

Thirteen homes in the city were destroyed and another 89 and one church were damaged. One truck and camper were destroyed and there is roughly $40,000 damage to Granite City schools, according to school officials.

Over time for police necessitated by the storm is estimated in excess of $25,000 and the street department has expended in excess of $47,000 in manpower and equipment used to clear debris from the streets after the storm, the ESDA report notes.

The final count of injuries shows that 21 persons were treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, eight were admitted and there were no fatalities. ESDA staff members worked 74 hours during the crisis and the city's 15 auxiliary policemen logged a total of 215 hours securing the storm-damaged areas of the city.

The American Red Cross utilized two staff members for 12 hours and a volunteer for six hours, opening four shelters. However, only one was used and housed three persons.

The Alton Salvation Army provided sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee while the Granite City Salvation Army provided a place for the Red Cross to set up its original emergency headquarters. The National Red Cross sent two staff members from St. Louis

Auto stickers to go on sale April 13 in GC

Sale of auto tax stickers will begin in Granite City Monday, April 13 and must be displayed on cars, trucks, vans and motorcycles by May 1, according to City Clerk Robert Stevens.

The stickers will be on sale at Stevens' office in city hall beginning at 8 a.m.

For autos the stickers will cost $3 until May 15 when the cost will increase to $5.50. Senior citizens may purchase one auto sticker for $1 until May 15.

The cost for trucks ranges from $8 to $25, according to size of the vehicle. On May 16, truck stickers will increase $2.50 in each weight category.

Three qualify in vocational competition

The Granite City Vocational Industrial Club of America recently completed in regional competition in the area of industrial electronics. Three Granite City students finished in the top 20 in the state of Illinois.

The three state qualifiers are: Steve Gibson, senior; Thomas Wyrostek, senior; and Dan Smith, junior.

They will compete at the Illinois Vocational Industrial Clubs of America State Skills Olympic contest held in Springfield, Illinois on April 30, May 1 and May 2.

Scholarships will be awarded to top finishers in the electronic field. The Illinois state winner will advance to National Competition in Atlanta, Ga.

Corporate, university research links urged

In a meeting honoring faculty researchers at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Vaughn J. Lindsay, dean of Graduate Studies and Research, has encouraged a closer interaction between researchers at the university and members of the corporate community.

The university received over $7 million in external funding last year. Research and training grants included studies on energy, transportation, pollution control, labor and management relations, productivity declines, marketing strategies, health, and other areas in which industry shares a major interest.

"Only a small portion of that research represented cooperative efforts with local industry," Dean Lindsay said.

"In contrast to many research problems in industry, where exploration of alternatives to immediate problems necessitates a short turn-around time, more basic, longer-term research could occur — if faculty researchers were aware of industry's research programs and if industry personnel were aware of faculty research expertise."

She said such shared knowledge could lead to ongoing types of cooperative research. "Additionally, the university researcher, pursuing his own field of inquiry, would be alert to implications that relate to the known needs of business," the dean said.

In her view, programs involving industry and the university could take several forms, including:

—Joint projects.

—Primer and subcontracting relationships, with either the university or industry taking the lead.

—University personnel conducting in industry, or industrial scientists serving as advisers or instructors on the campus.

—Instrument and equipment sharing.

Dean Lindsay said that, in addition to obvious benefits through long-term contributions toward product and process innovation and problem solving, industry and university cooperative research can enhance the preparation of potential industry employees, provide employment enrichment to university and industrial personnel, and help improve public understanding.

"The opportunity to make better products less expensively is enormous," she said, adding that "the possibility also exists to create and support modifications in academic programs that are more in tune with societal needs."

To explore more thoroughly the possibilities for cooperative research and training projects between SIUE and industries within the region, the Office of Graduate Studies and Research has published a booklet identifying many of the faculty researchers and consultants, along with examples of their research and training capabilities.

Copies of the research and creative activities publication are available by contacting Paul Tang in the Office of Graduate Studies and Research by telephoning 692-3162.

BOY SCOUTS of Troop 96 of Maryville School in front of the birthplace of William Jennings Bryan, the so-called golden-tongued orator who was defeated in a bid for the presidency. The visit was made during a weekend camping trip to Salem, Ill., and a tour of historical sites in that area.

Troop 96 scouts tour Salem area

Boy Scout Troop 96, Maryville School, was invited by the Mayor of Salem, Ill., C. L. McMackin, to spend the weekend in the city and welcomed them to all historical and local facilities. The mayor is the grandfather of the scribe of Troop 96, Scott Wilson.

The scouts camped in the back yard of Mrs. Eva White, a two-acre wooded lot in the middle of town.

Mrs. White, the great-aunt of Wilson, explained the boys' camping site once was the location of a college for freed slaves in the early 1800s. Mrs. White's brick home was built in 1849. Due to the high winds and rain on Friday night the scouts spent the remaining portion of the night in the basement of the Grace Methodist Church which, is a block from the campsite and camp duties. Mayor McMackin furnished tents to the fire station and the boys fished in the Salem Reservoir and then toured the home of William Jennings Bryan.

All the scouts agreed that one of the highlights of the trip was a stop at a local drug store for a nickel coke and a 25 cent cone. During the Saturday night campfire, the boys put on skits and the mayor presented the scoutmaster, Bud Charbonner, with a medalion of the Seal of the City of Salem. Mayor McMackin thanked the boys for coming and also praised their conduct while in Salem.

The scouts attended services at St. Teresa Catholic Church and the Rev. D. Jones of the Grace Methodist Church gave a campfire service on Sunday morning.

Those attending the camp-out were: Senior Patrol Leader Darrel Young, Assistant Senior Patrol Leader David Maxwell, Flaming Arrow Patrol-Patrol Leader Jon Morgan, Assistant Patrol Leaders Mike Charbonner, Craig Glasgow, Scott Wilson, George Kamacho, Road Runner Patrol-Patrol Leader Eddie Melton, assistant Darrell Schaefer, Mike Reed, Jeff Isenbarg, Marty Marion and Doug Hale; Eagle Patrol-Patrol Leader David Allen, assistant James Wright, John Hergert, Don Hull, Kevin Haddock, Dan White, Glen Goodman, Howard Lynch.

Volunteers were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Young and Clay Haddock. Also attending were Keith Haddock and Joe and Paul Allison.

Rules of Road course for Venice seniors

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, in cooperation with the Venice Senior Citizens is offering a Rules of the Road Review Course in Venice. The purpose of this course is to help senior citizens perform successfully on their driver's license renewal tests. The Rules of the Road Review Course offers, free of charge, instructions to help drivers brush-up on current rules of the road. A two-day course, of two hours each day, prepares the applicant for the actual written examination with sample written and road sign tests. Anyone interested in attending this free course may come to the Venice Recreation Center on April 8 and 9 from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

BUDGETING IS TOPIC
A step-by-step process in setting up a family budget will be taught by local leaders for Homemakers Extension Association unit meetings. The effect of family values and goals on how a family spends money will also be discussed. On Tuesday, April 14, at 12 noon at Nameeki Presbyterian Church, the Granite City Unit will hold its April meeting.

NOTICE

GRAVEMANN VIDEO PRODUCTIONS, a division of Gravemann Photography & Associates of East Alton, Illinois, has been selected by the U.S. JVC CORPORATION to exhibit edited portions of St. Louis area VIDEO TAPED WEDDINGS at the Professional Photographers of America National Convention. The convention will be held in St. Louis from June 27 through July 1, 1981.

The U.S. JVC CORPORATION, a leading manufacturer of VIDEO equipment, will use these VIDEO TAPES to demonstrate the newest equipment and technology used for the video taping of weddings to photographers from around the world.

Couples that will be married before June 20, 1981 will be eligible to have their wedding VIDEO TAPED without cost or obligation. Customers must grant permission to have edited portions of the video tape of their wedding used at this convention exhibit. Purchase of the VIDEO TAPE will be optional; the couple will have an opportunity to view the tape at our studio.

Due to prior scheduling of VIDEO TAPED WEDDINGS, only a limited number of appointments are available. Weddings that have contracted our studio for album coverage will be given preference.

News notes

In observance of Easter Week, Rotarians, Optimists, Lions and Kiwanians will hold a joint service club luncheon at noon Tuesday, April 14, in the YMCA auditorium.

While Congress is in the process of considering federal tax cuts, a Tax Foundation survey shows that proposals boosting taxes by $3.8 billion are pending in state legislatures across the nation.

Wood River Township voters on Tuesday rejected an $11.6 million bond issue proposal to expand their hospital.

St. Louis voters this week defeated a charter amendment that would have required the reopening of Homer G. Phillips as a full-service, acute-care hospital.

Referred to Mayor Paul Schuler a proposal by the local office of the Madison County Manpower Development program to create a mini-park with benches, picnic tables, trees and grass on a city-owned lot at 1300 Nineteenth St. (at Delmar Avenue).

Praised the mural painted last year by Manpower workers on a 19th Street building, and called attention to the current beauty of Civic Park (Alderman Roy Poulos said the trees there are in blossom, and Alderman Whitmer said, "It looks like heaven").

Criticized the appearance of a mini-park at 19th Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

Noted city intervention to require improvement of a mobile home court on E. 23rd Street.

Called for city department heads to prepare tentative budget requests.

Ordered four city engineer van tires from P & S at $43 each.

Requested close coordination with the Illinois Highway Division so that long-delayed street striping and painting work is carried out soon.

Scheduled for the April 21 meeting a status report on the condition of Maryville Road, and consideration of an ordinance requiring physical examinations of city employees as a way of curbing hospital and medical costs.

Planned for the April 28 meeting consideration of a municipal licensing ordinance previously withdrawn for revisions.

Verbally approved American Steel Foundries crosswalk signs.

Agreed to study Belleville city laws that control election campaign signs and that allow impoundment of vehicles when payment of vehicle-related fines is ignored.

Authorized temporary closing of the 25th Street railroad traffic crossing to permit installation of a 30-inch storm drainage line near Nameoki Drive.

Accepted a low bid of $5,943 from Contractor C. D. Peters to repair a sanitary sewer behind Nameoki School.

Sought construction bids to improve Myrtle Avenue from Faith

Avenue to Victory Drive, with $800 appropriated for 34-foot-wide pavement.

Limited parking on Monroe Street between 21st and 22nd streets, with a $1 penalty for violations.

Approved installation of additional fire hydrants.

Appropriated $202,096 in motor fuel tax funds to help retire 19th Street overpass bonds and interest.

Allowed Illinois Bell Telephone Co. to excavate at Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue during the weeks of April 13 and 20.

Received notice that $491,060 will be needed in the next city budget to fund firefighter pensions.

Decided to submit more information in an effort to obtain additional federal disaster funding for a Nameoki School area sewer reconstruction project which Street Supt. Lione Portell said is now in its final stages.

Agreed to determine whether a stop sign ordinance is needed to halt Pao Street traffic at Hodges Avenue.

Repealed Kilarney Drive stop signs at Newell Drive.

Disaster area damaged Lake, Mitchell and Wilson elementary schools and Prather Junior High School.

Lake School had a hole about 20 by 30 feet in size in the roof, which will cost about $3,000 to repair. On the southwest corner of Mitchell School, the wind lifted 8,000 square feet of roofing from the deck and water damaged ceiling tiles and the floor. Damage there is estimated at $35,000.

Wilson School was pelted with roofing and debris from damaged homes nearby and school officials are cleaning up the lot and playground. Damage at Prather was limited to four or five skylights, which will cost about $1,000 to repair.

The Granite City (Trust) Bank has begun a program for homeowners whose property was damaged. The bank will make 13 percent interest loans to expedite repairs until insurance payments are received or for expenses not covered by insurance.

The 13 percent loans will be made only during April and will be limited to Quad-City area residents whose homes were directly damaged by the storm, according to Drew Karandjeff, president.

Some residents, particularly of the Glenview area, have expressed concern that the tornado warning sirens did not sound until after the tornado struck.

One man contended all the clocks in his demolished home stopped at 10:50 p.m. Friday and official reports show the tornado warning sirens were activated at 10:58 p.m. He said that after the tornado struck, he fled his home, went to check on neighbors a street away and was returning to his home when the sirens sounded. By then, all the damage was done, he contended.

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene was in Washington, D.C., early this week, urging federal disaster officials to declare Madison County a disaster area. Gov. Thompson's declaration reached Washington Monday at 11 a.m.

Such a federal designation could open up low-interest loans for homeowners and businesses to rebuild.

Illinois ESDA Director E. Ernie Jones visited Granite City and Edwardsville Sunday and was working with Vadalabene this week to gather detailed damage reports necessary to have the county declared a federal disaster area.

He praised city, state and county officials and local volunteers for working together to rebuild after the storm.

If some reassurances are needed Illinois ranks eighth among states in terms of tornado frequency, but the chances of being killed or injured are very small, if precautions are taken according to Wayne Wendland, climatologist at the Illinois State Water Survey in Urbana.

Wendland said about 700 tornadoes are reported in Illinois each year, but they probably are more which are not reported. Few cause the type of damage caused by those which passed through this area Friday night.

The Salvation Army reported today that within two hours after the tornado struck Granite City, 28 volunteers began serving coffee, donuts, soup sandwiches and cold drinks to residents of the stricken area, as well as police and telephone workers restoring service to the area and local, county and state police, also civil defense worker and auxiliary police on patrol in the vicinity.

Captain Salisbury stated that 49 volunteer hours were spent, serving 58 cups of coffee, 412 cups of cold drinks, 24 cups of soup, 720 sandwiches, 3 dozen donuts and one cake. TV emergency food orders also were given.

Captain Salisbury expressed appreciation to those groups who made donations.

Sasyk, Echols

led the Madison balloting with 1,691 votes and unopposed City Treasurer Hilbert Hoeckstra garnered 618 votes.

As noted, Rev. Rockett will replace Walton, a member of the Madison City Council for 23 years.

Alderman Thomas Gordon won a new term in the Third Ward with a 362 to 183 victory over Thomas George.

Other present Madison aldermen re-elected were: First Ward, R. Don Reeves, 358 votes, unopposed; Second Ward, Mrs. Ida Dant, 378, unopposed; and Fourth Ward, Christ Costoff, 333, unopposed.

More than 300 attended the first reunion of former Granite City High School band members, held during the weekend at Augustine's Restaurant, near Belleville.

The occasion was celebrated with a smorgasbord dinner and dancing to the music of the Terry Dakto Quintet.

Taking part in the reunion were Granite City High School graduates who performed with the band and now are residing in 17 different states, as far apart as California and New Jersey.

DeBost of Paris, France, came the farthest distance to celebrate with the former student musicians.

High school career days

Thirty-five representatives of technical schools and two-year colleges offering career programs will be hosted at Granite City High School North on April 28 and at Granite City High School South on April 30.

In addition, there will be representatives from the Armed Services, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, commercial art, and the Illinois State Employment Service.

Time of the program at North High is from 10:15 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. in the library.

At South High, the program will be presented from 10:15 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Students will have an opportunity to talk with several representatives concerning their plans after graduation from high school. They also will be able to compare and evaluate the offerings of the various schools and programs.

These career programs are being presented under the direction of Thomas Hollaway, director of Vocational Industrial Arts and Career Education for the Granite City School District, and by Roy McConkey, Career and Vocational Placement counselor.

Mrs. June Mills, counselor at North High, and Mrs. Susan Kopsky, counselor at South High, are coordinating the program.

Parents are welcome, Mrs. Kopsky said.

STOCKHOLM BRASS ENSEMBLE DUE HERE

The SUE Office of Cultural Arts and University Museums will present the Stockholm Philharmonic Brass Ensemble's first concert in the St. Louis area Wednesday, April 29, at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

The ensemble has performed in Denmark, the U.S., Sweden, France and Poland, in addition to concerts, tours, radio and television broadcasts. Its repertoire is music from the sixteenth century to the present. Admission to the concert is $3 for SUE students with identification and $5 for the general public.

Serving as master-of-ceremonies was Roderick "Bob" Key of San Antonio, Tex.

The age levels were equally as widespread as the current addresses of the former band members.

Among those present were Jack Johnson of Granite City, who played with the band in 1929, and several who graduated as recently as 1979.

Special guests included Mrs. Millie Meek, whose husband, the late Louis E. Meek, taught music and served as high school band director for 37 years, prior to retiring in 1974.

Mr. and Mrs. Meek's son, Bruce, now living in New York City, accompanied his mother.

Appreciation was expressed by the organizers to many local business firms and merchants who provided gifts for presentation at the reunion.

Primarily responsible for arranging the highly successful event were Robert Anderson, Linda (Moore) Aumann, Martha (Riley) Bridges, Helen Hall, Barb (Newhouse) Hente, Joyce (Shepard) Hicks, Rosalie (Aerne) Hoelter, Anita (Ruff) McKinney, Marilyn (Shepard) McMillan, Phyllis (Daugherty) McMillan, Mary Ann Neuman, Debbie (Hudson) Thebeau and Joseph Owens, current director of the Granite City High School South Band.

HOME HEAT GRANTS

Due to a new federal regulation, the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs announced that on April 1 the annual income maximum at which a single-person household may qualify for assistance under the Low Income Energy Assistance Program rises from $4,738 to $5,386. Both homeowners and renters are being encouraged to apply for the one-time LIEAP grants, which may range from $60 to $430 statewide, with local variations depending on location, income and type of heating fuel.

Ross Benda

Ross L. Benda, 75, of 2414 Nameoki Road, a resident of Granite City for 56 years, died at 12:45 p.m. Monday, April 6, 1981, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, following a lengthy illness.

He was taken to the hospital by ambulance from home about three hours earlier.

Mr. Benda retired in 1965 as a foreman in the Tin House at Granite City Steel. He was employed by the firm for 42 years.

He was an active member of Trinity United Methodist Church, having served there as Sunday school superintendent for many years and class teacher.

Mr. Benda was born in Ramsey, Ill., and came to Granite City in 1923. Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Lucille Benda; one son, Robert Benda of Granite City; two daughters, Mrs. Edna Jones of Granite City and Mrs. Doris Henson of Arlington Heights, Ill.; a brother, Edwin Benda of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; one sister, Mrs. Walter (Ruth) Green of Plano, Ill.; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. today, April 9, at Trinity United Methodist Church, East 25th and Henry streets, with the Rev. Paul Bryant officiating. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township. Friends called earlier at Randall A. Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. The family requests memorials to Trinity United Methodist Church or the American Cancer Society.

Alvin Cochran

Alvin Cochran, 79, of Chicago, a former resident of Granite City, died at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 8, 1981, at Cook County Hospital in Chicago.

He had been in ill health the past four years and was a hospital patient four months.

Mr. Cochran was born in Granite City and had resided here for many years before moving to Chicago 35 years ago. He had retired in 1951 as a boat dock laborer in San Francisco, Calif.

Mr. Cochran was of the Protestant faith. He was unmarried.

Among the survivors is a sister, Mrs. Frank (Irene) Deem of Granite City. Private funeral services will be held Saturday, April 11, at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road. There is no visitation.

Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road.

Ruth Connor

Mrs. Ruth (Woodson) Connor, 63, of 2619 Edison Ave., died at her home about 9 p.m. Wednesday, April 8, 1981.

She had been ill two months and was pronounced dead at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday by Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg.

Mrs. Connor had resided in the Quad-Cities for the past 14 years. She was born in St. Francis, Ark.

Her husband, Daniel Wayne Connor, died in 1973.

Mrs. Connor was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Among the survivors are two sons, Donald Connor of Granite City and Robert Connor of St. Louis; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Shaw of Granite City; one brother, Martin Woodson of Chicago; a sister, Mrs. Richard (Marie) Evans of Warrenton, Mo.; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be from Lahey Funeral Home, 501 Madison Ave., Madison, at 9 a.m. Friday, April 10, at St. Joseph Catholic Church, 21st and State streets, for 9:30 a.m. mass. Burial will be in Sunset Burial Park in St. Louis.

Recitation of the rosary will be at 7 p.m. Thursday. Friends may call after 4 p.m. today.

Onie Evanoff

Her husband, the Rev. Steve Evanoff, died in 1964.

Mrs. Evanoff was a former member of the First Assembly of God Church here.

Among the survivors are seven children living in the bi-state metropolitan area; two brothers; and 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday, April 10, at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, with the Rev. Gene Putnam officiating. Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road.

Friends may call after 5 p.m. Thursday at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave.

Eugenia Francis

Mrs. Eugenia M. Francis, 54, of Rural Route One, Box 1296, Chouteau Island, died at 3:42 a.m. Tuesday, April 7, 1981, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, one hour after suffering an ailment at home. She had been under medical care for a heart ailment for five years.

Mrs. Francis was born in Bismark, Mo., and resided here 15 years. She was a member of the Briarcliff Pentecostal Church.

Surviving are her husband, Everett E. Francis; a daughter, Mrs. James (Rebecca) Hileman of Granite City; two sons, Everett Francis II and Michael Francis, both of Granite City; four brothers, Gerald Davis of Granite City, Frank and Paul Davis of Flat River, Mo., and Wayne Davis of Phoenix, Ariz.; two sisters, Mrs. William (Norma) Douglas of Flat River and Mrs. Bill L. (Nadine) Marler of Flat River; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, April 10, at Briarcliff Pentecostal Church, 1120 W. Pontoon Road, with the Rev. Paul Bower officiating. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road. Visitation began at 5 p.m. Wednesday at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave.

Ella Massey

Funeral services were held Sunday, April 5, in Kosciusko, Miss., for Mrs. Ella Vester (Roberts) Massey, 92, of Ethel, Miss., the mother of two Granite City residents.

Mrs. Massey died April 3, 1981, at the Montfort Jones Memorial Hospital in Mississippi.

She was a native of Leake County, Miss., and lived in Kosciusko for more than 20 years.

Mrs. Massey was a member of the East County Line Baptist Church in Bolivar City, Miss. Her husband, the Rev. J. C. Massey, preceded her in death.

Among the survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Opal Davis of Granite City, Mrs. Clara Lee Gentry of Brandon, Miss., and Mrs. Lillie Nell of Ethel, Miss.; three sons, Charlie Dee Massey of Granite City, and Virgil and Odie Massey, both of Ethel, Miss.; a sister, Mrs. Rachel Ainsworth of Carthage, Miss.; 27 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

The services were conducted by Rev. Lavon Moore and Rev. Jessie Spears at the Novell Funeral Home in Kosciusko. Burial was in the Macedonia Cemetery there.

Charles Sanders

Word has been received here of the death on Saturday, April 4, 1981, of Charles William Sanders of Denver, Colo., a former Granite City resident.

Mr. Sanders died in a Savannah (Ga.) hospital, following a massive heart attack, which he suffered while on vacation.

He was born in Peekskill, N. Y., to the late Rev. and Mrs. John Henry (Sarah C.) Sanders. Rev. Sanders was minister at the First United Presbyterian Church here from 1925 to 1929.

Mr. Sanders attended school in Granite City until moving in 1935 with his family to Boulder, Colo.

In 1940, he was graduated magna cum laude from the University of Illinois School of Architecture, at which time he was the recipient of the Ryerson Travelling Fellowship for excellence in design.

During World War II, Mr. Sanders worked for the U.S. Corps of Engineers in Denver and later was employed by architectural firms in Boulder and Denver. He was working for a Denver firm at the time of death.

Mr. Sanders was an ordained Elder of the Presbyterian Church and a member of Denver Central Presbyterian Church, where he sang in the choir and served as a parish leader.

For many years, he served on the Home of Neighborhood Service Board in Denver. He was an avid photographer, traveler and patron of the arts.

Mr. Sanders had never married.

Among the survivors are three sisters, Eunice Lundberg of Boulder, Colo., Lois Myers of Eureka, Calif., and Mary Huffstutler of St. Louis; and two brothers, John Henry Sanders Jr. of Hammond, Ind., and Jimmy Sanders of Boulder.

Memorial services will be held Saturday, April 11, at 2 p.m. at Central Presbyterian Church in Denver.

Contributions may be made to The Charles W. Sanders Music Memorial Fund of Central Presbyterian Church, 1660 Sherman St., Denver, or to the Home of Neighborhood Service, 3609 Lawrence, Denver.

Bruce Spurgeon

Bruce Dale Spurgeon, 24, of Peoria, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ted (Ruby) Overbeck of Granite City, died at 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 7, 1981, at St. Francis Hospital in Peoria, after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Spurgeon was stricken while playing basketball after school.

He had attended college in Peoria and was employed as a teacher's aide at a Peoria grade school.

Mr. Spurgeon was born in Granite City, but had resided all of his life in Peoria.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale (Joan Overbeck) Spurgeon, are both teachers in the Peoria school system.

In addition to his parents and maternal grandparents, also among the survivors are a brother, Todd Spurgeon, 14, at home; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Louis (Esther) Spurgeon of Alton; and an aunt, Mrs. Bill (Karen) Nelson of Granite City.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday, April 10, at the Leroy Schmidt Funeral Home in Peoria.

Burial will be in Swan Lake Memorial Gardens, Peoria.

Health fair opens today

A "Health Fair" in which basic medical tests will be offered to make citizens more aware of their health conditions will be held today and tomorrow at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The event will be open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. both days.

The fair will include free health screenings, blood pressure measurements, height, weight, vision hearing, anemia, diabetes and pulmonary screenings. Blood work also will be done for $6.

Due to a limit on transportation resources, rides to the fair will be limited to the Granite City and Madison areas. Church groups and organizations are being asked to arrange transportation for their groups.

The event is part of "Health Fair '81" sponsored by Blue Cross, St. Louis chapter, the American Red Cross and KSDK.

The Lions Club Mobile screening unit for hearing impairments will be part of the health fair between 9 a.m. and noon, and 1:30 p.m. and 5 p.m., at St. Elizabeth's. The hearing tests by the mobile unit also will be held Wednesday in Madison from 9 a.m. to noon at the Lions Home at 910 Madison Ave., and again from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Lions Den II, 3901 Lake Drive.

Five-year prison term in burglary

Jeffrey A. Jobe, 20, of 1044 Kirkpatrick Homes, charged with committing a burglary Nov. 13, 1980, in Granite City, has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick to serve five years in prison.

Jobe was arrested near the scene of an apartment burglary at Kirkpatrick. An eight-track stereo and two speakers were taken.

More 'shopping around' for fuel

Drivers will find it pays to shop around for gasoline this month, according to the monthly fuel gauge report by the AAA-Auto Club.

Although average prices for gasoline, as well as station operating hours, remain virtually unchanged since the last survey, the new survey shows there is a 17- to 20-cent difference between high and low gasoline prices.

The monthly check of 56 stations on main highways in Missouri and nearby Illinois and Kansas found that prices for full-service regular fuel varied from a low of $1.27 to a high of $1.47.

Regular unleaded gas at a full-service pump cost anywhere from $1.31 to $1.51, and drivers can find full-service premium unleaded gas at prices ranging from $1.38 to $1.55.

There is also a difference between high and low prices for self-service fuel. The regular costs anywhere from $1.23 to $1.35, and regular unleaded prices vary from $1.27 to $1.44.

The only change in station operating hours since the last survey shows that 51 percent of the stations surveyed said they would close by 8 p.m. on weekdays (50 percent in the last survey).

Ten percent of the stations contacted say they will be open 24 hours; 33 percent will close by 6 p.m. on Saturdays; and 67 percent will be open on Sundays.

Accidents endanger the aged

By LT. GOV. DAVE O'NEAL

There are several reasons why the elderly are especially susceptible to accidental injuries.

Poor eyesight and hearing can decrease awareness of hazards. Arthritis, neurological diseases and impaired coordination can make older people unsteady.

Various diseases and medications can result in drowsiness or distraction. The following advice was provided by the National Institute on Aging.

Q. My mother has a long, winding staircase in her home. How can she take precautions against a fall?

A. Stairways should be illuminated. Light switches should be installed both at the top and bottom of the staircase.

Both sides of the stairway should have sturdy handrails. Tack down carpeting on stairs and use nonskid treads.

To prevent other kinds of falls, make sure there are no throw rugs that tend to slide. Use grab bars on bathroom walls, and nonskid mats or strips in the bathtub.

Provide night, lights or bedside remote control light switches. Keep outdoor steps and walkways in good repair.

Q. I am worried about fires and burns. Do you have some advice on the subject?

A. Some reasonable precautions against burns include: Never smoke in bed or when drowsy. When cooking, don't wear loosely-fitting, flammable clothing; bathrobes, nightgowns and pajamas catch fire.

Set water heater thermostats and faucets so that water doesn't scald the skin. Plan which emergency exits to use in case of fire.

Make sure the door locks are not too cumbersome to be unlocked in a hurry in case of fire.

Q. How many elderly persons are injured each year?

A. Each year, about 24,000 persons over age 65 die from accidental injuries and at least 800,000 others sustain injuries severe enough to disable them for at least one day.

The elderly constitute about 11 percent of the population, but suffer 23 percent of all accidental deaths.

Open house at School of Nursing

An open house for transfer and high school students who are interested in nursing careers is scheduled Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, second floor, Classroom Building 111.

Shirley Strohmeyer, academic adviser in the School of Nursing, said the open house will help familiarize potential students with the curriculum and the professional aspects of nursing as a career.

A panel discussion will answer questions about nursing, including job opportunities, salaries and specialized programs. Parents are also being encouraged to attend.

All School of Nursing faculty members and representatives from the Admissions and Records office, and other university personnel will be present to discuss policies and campus life.

All School of Nursing faculty members and representatives from the Admissions and Records office, and other university personnel will be present to discuss policies and campus life.

The Faith Circle of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met in the church parlor last week with 13 members present.

After circle leaders Mrs. Eula Meyers and Mrs. Madonn Gresham served refreshments, Mrs. Meyers opened the meeting with a prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by secretary Mrs. Ella Ray Smith, after which she gave the devotion. Her subject was prayer, which was taken from various sources.

Mrs. Geraldine Thomas read the treasurer's report followed by the "Least Coin" lesson, the theme being individual efforts for peace. A report of the executive meeting was then given by Mrs. Meyers.

The circle has been asked to furnish cookies for the April 8 three-church lenten service and two workers for the April 12 Methodist round-robin lenten service.

Donations were collected to buy blankets for the mission work.

Others present were Mesdames Olga Tierney, Marylouise Neipert, Bessie Milton, Lethia Gichoff, Lillian Compton, Thelma Clements, Velva Brewster and June Karandjeff.

FROST BORN
American poet Robert Frost was born on March 26, 1874.

Friendly Agers hear speaker

Fifty-two members and six guests attended last week's potluck dinner and business meeting of the Friendly Agers senior club at the Second Baptist Church.

A special guest was Tom Holloway, who spoke on "Social Security."

Dorothy Barnes gave the invocation and the group sang, "He Touched Me."

"Because He Lives" was the title of a song, sung by Alice Hoffman and Mildred Garin, and Nick Poplichak sang, "He Could Have Called Ten Thousand Angels."

A reading, "What's the Matter With Me?" was presented by Naomi Ronkey, and the Rev. Carl Watkins offered the closing prayer.

In the social hour, Evelyn Smith was in charge of games.

Mrs. Edna Lynn hosts circle

The Patience Circle met last week at the home of Mrs. Edna Lynn. Hostesses were Edna Lynn and Nelle Hart. After lunch was served, each member selected and read a scripture from the Bible Promises.

Devotions including an Easter poem and the message of Easter were given by Mrs. Mable Stewart.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin Service was led by Mrs. Woodie Lynn.

Other Mesdames present were: Mary Ahlvers, Pearl Alberty, Katherine VanOrder, Ethel Lerch, Alice Cruse, and Paula Smith.

'Things to do today' topic of FSA panel

At Monday night's meeting of Granite City High School South Future Secretaries Association, a panel of experienced secretaries was the program for the evening. Sitting on the panel were Mrs. Mary Gain, secretary to Keith Jackson, vice president, General Steel Industries Engineering Division, Mrs. Billie Schuler, executive secretary to Allan Curtis, vice president, Metropolitan Division, First National Bank in St. Louis, and Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, administrative assistant to the manager of Affiliate Liaison, First Union Bank, corporation. Mrs. Vunovic also served as moderator for the panel.

A form entitled "Things To Do Today" was given to each FSA member with instructions to fill it in with things they planned to accomplish the next day. The next step after completion of the list was for them to assign priorities, in "A", "B", "C", order and to begin work on the various projects in the order of importance. The panel stressed to the members the necessity for realizing the difference between tasks that demanded immediate action and those that could be done later.

The panel was asked to relate what it liked most about their jobs. Mrs. Schuler commented that the people she worked for and worked with were what helped to make her job so enjoyable. She also stressed to the future secretaries the importance of team work, and volunteering to assist others in the office when there was any spare time. When asked about her job and how she happened to get it, she confided that it helps to know someone working with the company at which you apply for a job, but after that door is opened for you, the rest is completely up to the applicant - the interview and the skill testing.

Another enjoyable feature of the position is the opportunity to meet many levels of people who are customers of the three individuals for whom she works, and being able to help them with their problems. "It doesn't take long before they are calling and asking for you to help them, instead of thinking they have to speak direct to the boss," she said. Her main complaint about her job was that the days weren't long enough to accomplish all she wanted to.

Mrs. Gain, who has worked on the present job for just one month, after working in the Marketing area of Ralston Purina for 11 years, agreed with Mrs. Schuler on the importance of teamwork. She also stressed how much the people one works with can affect the degree to which one enjoys the job, and commented on how much they can differ. She cited an example of a former boss of years ago who would put his coffee cup on her desk 15 times a day, which meant she was to immerse it in the sink and get him a cup of coffee. On her present job the men in the office are so cooperative that they even do jobs normally delegated to the secretary, such as copy work and filing.

On the subject of getting coffee for the boss, one member of the audience related her resentment of having to do this, stating that it made her feel like a waitress. Advice to this individual and the audience was given by Mrs. Vunovic, who explained that it would be best to develop a positive attitude about it, volunteering to get your boss coffee for the boss, one and being eager and willing to go for the coffee when there's a group meeting in your boss' office.

One way or another, someone will be asked to get the coffee, and your cheerfulness in accomplishing this task will be a point in your favor when the time for overall evaluation arrives. Beginning secretaries should never develop a negative attitude or harbor thoughts such as "that's not part of my job."

One of the members asked about doing extra things in the office, just for fun. An example of sending a card of appreciation to fellow workers was mentioned. The panel encouraged this, citing its "ripple" effect. When one of the office members does something beyond the ordinary - such as bringing flowers to the office to share with others, or bringing in homemade cookies or a cake for special occasions - then others in the office eventually reciprocate, and the whole atmosphere changes to one of friendliness and teamwork, and close

In closing, each panel member was asked to give a word of advice to the audience, to help them in their future jobs. Among the suggestions offered were the following: the importance of writing down all messages very clearly, instead of thinking that the secretary would be able to remember them and tell the boss when he came into the office, or got off the other phone; the absolute necessity for advising the boss the instant the secretary discovers she's made a bad mistake, instead of trying to hide it, or cover up for it, or ignore it - no matter how bad the mistake is (which would then give the boss an opportunity to correct the mistake if possible, or at least have advance warning of what has occurred; this would also prove to him that he has an honest, mature individual working for him whom he can trust.); volunteering to help others; and letting the boss know, through one's reminders of the "Senior FSA Day in the Office" at First National Bank in St. Louis, work steadily and put forth and the date of the FSA Banquet was also discussed, with all members reminded to get their points in to Loretta Rutledge so the above-average effort with Miss FSA and Miss Junior FSA could be determined. These winners will be announced at the banquet.

The future secretaries were told that upon graduation and the beginning of a new phase of their life - that of office worker - they would have a clean sheet of paper before them, and the choice to fill that page with success was up to each individual. Following the panel's discussion, a brief business session was conducted by FSA president, Judy Weller, and reports were given by

Court order finally douses raging fire

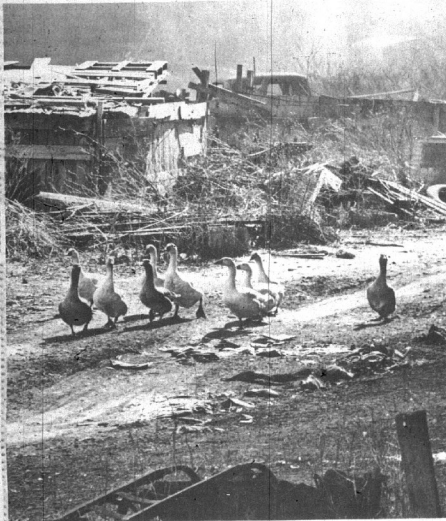

Press-Record

Pat Foley

NO MAN'S LAND. A brush fire which eventually ignited piles of junk and old tires threatened the home and farm of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Edwards, 115 S. Roosevelt St., Nameoki Township, required a court order and the cooperation of three fire departments and a bulldozer to extinguish. The Madison, Venice and Long Lake volunteer fire departments did finally respond in accordance with the court order. Clockwise from top left: Venice firemen siphon water from the Long Lake department's fold-a-tank reservoir; A huge column of smoke, visible for several miles, rises above the site of the fire looking south from Route 203 in Madison; a flock of geese head for safer ground as the flames edge their way toward the farm buildings of the Edwards. The farm is adjacent to Eagle Park Acres, but outside of the Venice Fire District.

Seminars for Illinois retailers

Basic retail operation will be discussed at the Illinois Retail Merchants Association 1981 annual meeting April 29 and 30 at Pheasant Run, St. Charles, Ill.

"Retailers have cut expenses to the bone to offset inflation and high costs of merchandise and labor. A major concern today is how to maintain merchandise quality, selection and customer service in the face of further cost increases," said Hugh E. Muncy, IRMA president.

Each seminar at the meeting will take a positive approach to improving an operation fundamental to every retail outlet.

The program includes sessions on merchandise cost control, sales training, internal theft, advertising, motivation and legislative and regulatory matters.

APPLICATIONS FOR STATE FELLOWSHIPS

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that applications are being accepted in his office for the governor's 1981-82 yearlong fellowship program which begins Aug. 1. The program, created in 1979 by the legislature, is open to all students with an undergraduate degree.

Eight students will receive experience in five different areas of the executive branch as well as in a state agency of each participant's choosing. All participants will be based in Springfield and will receive a salary of $1,065 a month beginning Aug. 1 and ending July 31, 1982. Deadline for applications is May 15, with interviews to be conducted for a final group of candidates in the first two weeks of June.

Venice schools await word on career education funds

Venice schools have received notification of completion of the initial review of their 1981 application for desegregation assistance under the Basic Grants Program of the Title VI Emergency School Aid Act.

The analysis of the application, preparation of a rank order of applications submitted from the state based on reduction of minority group isolation under the applicant's plans; determination as to whether the proposal activities were authorized under the statute and regulations; and an evaluation of the educational quality of the proposed activities.

The application has been placed in Category III (plan adopted within seven or more years). The length of the project has been recommended for 12 months.

The funding rank order is 9 (tie) out of 12 applicants in Category III.

There was one applicant in Category I (plan adopted within three or less years) and 13 in Category II (plan adopted within 4-6 years).

The components, sub-components, and activities were approved for the entire proposal for a period of one year, which has been the usual procedure provided there are sufficient funds. They include in-service training and human relations, attendance, and career education.

Resubmission would not change the funding priority and would only be considered in the context of multi-year funding.

"We felt that with cost-cutting in Washington, D.C., we would gladly accept funding for one year," Althea A. Cross said. She is director of Title VI Project Micro.

"In a telephone conversation with Charlie T. Trussell, Department of Education senior education program specialist, we tried to learn more about the funding process for 1981-82. It is apparent that every effort will be made to notify applicants as soon as possible or at least no later than June 30, 1981."

Skate-a-thon sponsored by county group

"Superskate '81" will be sponsored by the Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens (MCARC) April 11 at the Stardust Skate Center, 3967 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In addition to skating and prizes, funds raised will benefit MCARC to aid in prevention, research, public awareness, legal rights, educational and community residential services for retarded children and adults in Madison County.

Sponsor sheets are available at the Stardust Skate Center, various stores and Quad-City schools. Prizes include an eight-track stereo, a 10-speed bicycle, roller skates, canners outfits, calculators and additional prizes which will be awarded.

Airman Melton in Korean drill

Airman First Class Jason E. Melton, son of Henrice Melton of 21 Grenzer Homes, Madison, is one of 160,000 U.S. and South Korean military people participating in Team Spirit '81.

The two-month combined exercise, held in South Korea, provides opportunities for military forces of the two allies to gain experience in both joint and combined defensive operations.

Team Spirit, the largest annual exercise conducted in the Pacific area, includes U.S. land, sea and air forces from outside Korea.

While demonstrating the readiness of Pacific forces, it also provides training for U.S.-based augmentation forces in rapid deployment and integration into combat operations.

Growing broccoli and cauliflower

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Adviser

Broccoli, cauliflower, and brussel sprouts are members of the cabbage family that have been widely planted in recent years.

All offer good yield potential in the home garden, but they do have some special requirements.

Broccoli will yield over an extended period of time when well grown. The secrets to success are healthy transplants that haven't been subjected to extended cold temperatures or stress during growing, early planting, and good culture.

Space the transplants 18 to 24 inches apart in the row. Use starter fertilizer in the transplant water, and side-dress with nitrogen when plants are half grown.

Organic mulches will give weed control and better soil temperature and moisture conditions. Once harvesting starts, keep flower heads removed before flowers bloom out.

Cauliflower, too, needs to be planted early. Hot weather at heading time may prevent heading or lower quality.

Use healthy plants that have not been subjected to stress or extended low temperatures. These conditions cause premature heading or failure to head.

Plants should be spaced 18 to 24 inches apart, receive a fertilizer solution at planting time, and be given the best of cultural care.

Leaves should be tied over the top at the first sign of the flower head, except for the self-blanching varieties.

A fall crop started in early August may grow and produce better than the spring crop, as the heads develop during cool weather.

Brussel sprouts develop best in the cool season.

When planted in the spring, sprouts develop in about 90 days, when it is usually warm or hot. These "sprouts" tend to be loose and fluffy and may be off-flavor.

Plants started in early June will develop "sprouts" in the fall and these should be of better quality.

Regardless of the planting season, spacing should be at 24 inches and the plants should receive regular watering.

VENICE CORPORAL IN ANTI-ARMOR TESTS
Marine Lance Cpl. Errol L. Collie, son of Betty J. Fields of 85 Venice Homes, Venice, participated in the test and evaluation of advanced anti-armor vehicles at Fort Hunter, Liggett, Calif. He is a member of the 3rd Assault Amphibian Battalion based at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The three-month test was a joint experiment between the Army and Marine Corps that explored the combat effectiveness of combined forces which utilize light-weight, highly mobile and agile anti-armor combat vehicles. The purpose was to obtain data to support future decisions for the orderly transition of light weight, anti-armor technology into possible service deployment programs. A 1979 graduate of Madison High School, Collie joined the Marine Corps in August 1979.

Scouts perform at Colonnades

Boy Scout Troop 7 of St. Joseph Catholic Church presented a "Boy Scout Circus" program last week for residents at the Colonnades.

The troop periodically performs various service projects in the community, which are part of the Boy Scout's citizenship training program and serve to increase a boy's awareness of the needs of others, organizers said.

Skills performed at the nursing facility, included "If I wasn't A Boy Scout," "Superman" and "Lawn Mower."

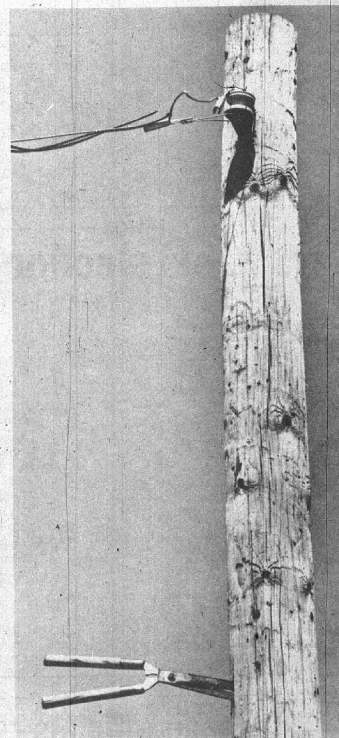

Participating were Steve Kusmierczak, senior patrol leader, and Scouts Jeff Kittel, Joey Kusmierczak, Kevin Williamson, Greg Hagon, Karl Markovich, Mike Brazel, Jim Whitsell, Mark Brazel, Frank Scaturro and Jim Harper.

24TH-GRAND INJURY
Lea E. Martin, 22, of 2927 Warren Ave. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of minor injuries sustained at 2:50 p.m. Monday when the left front of her car, northbound on Grand Avenue at 24th Street, was hit by the right front of the eastbound truck of Randy Phillips, 2301 E. 24th St.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS of the aftermath of the tornado which ripped through the Quad-City area Friday night damaging 102 homes including 13 completely destroyed. Top left—camping trailers, similar to this one, were tossed and overturned by the twister throughout the area; Top center—Granite City Street Department crews help homeowners with the cleanup Saturday. Photo below—mobile homes were blown off of foundations in Pontoon Beach including these two, the right one having been picked up and pushed into the home at left knocking it off of its pad. Top right—A pair of hedge clippers imbedded six inches in a utility pole about 15 feet above ground level. Above—A car damaged by the tornado sits in the front yard of its owner. At right—Jerry Motts Jr. examines his mobile home which was dumped into Long Lake as the twister headed eastward. Motts was in the trailer at the time, but was not injured. Below—The First Christian Church, 2900 Maryville Road, is boarded up Saturday afternoon. The windows were broken and the roof was extensively damaged as were the rooms at far right.

BPW installs Lois Wetton

Lois Wetton of Granite City was installed as director of District 14, Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, at the districtwide Presidents' Council meeting last week.

The event was held at Buckley's Restaurant in the Fairview Heights Ramada Inn.

Sixty-seven attended the installation, with representatives from most of the 15 Business and Professional Women's clubs which comprise District 14.

A total of 27 members from the Granite City BPW Club was present to witness Mrs. Wetton being installed.

Maxine Mullins of Collinsville was the installing officer.

In the ceremony, she drew attention to the original form and titles of the various offices, most of which were derived from the Latin.

Mrs. Mullins is a past Young Careerist state chairman of the Illinois BPW Federation and a past president of the Collinsville BPW.

The new district director was president of the Granite City BPW Club in 1978-79. During that year, the local club won 23 state and national awards. She has been an active BPW member since 1973.

Mrs. Wetton won the Illinois Individual Development (IDP) Speak-Off contest in 1975 and represented the state at the national convention in Las Vegas.

She has held most offices at the local level and served as IDP chairman of District 14 and on the state IDP committee.

Mrs. Wetton resides with her husband, Raymond, at 3139 Princeton Drive.

Their daughter, Linda, a teacher with the U.S. Department of Defense in Aschaffenburg, Germany, also is a BPW member and was the winner of the National IDP Award in Puerto Rico in 1978.

The new district director is a check eller in the Lock Box Department at the First National Bank in St. Louis.

She also is active in the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary, Madison County Hospice, Travelers Abroad, Granite City Republican Women's Club and the First National Bank Club.

Installed with Mrs. Wetton as district officers for 1981-1982 were:

Mary Rotman, Highland, first associate director; Marglin Bromaghin, Godfrey, second associate director; Rosalie Stern, Granite City, recording secretary; Dianne Barby, Pochontas, corresponding secretary; and Audrey Nolen, Belleville, treasurer.

In other business, the District 14 President's Council members endorsed Gloria Schwarz of Highland as a candidate for state recording secretary.

Plans also were made to attend the Illinois Federation of BPW Clubs state convention, scheduled this month in Chicago.

A special guest at the installation was Annellen Smith of Granite City, first vice-president of the Illinois BPW. District 14 BPW clubs include Alton Area, Belle East 31, Bond County, Cahokia, Carrollton, Collinsville, East St. Louis, Edwardsville, Fairview-Edgemont, Federated, Belleville, Granite City, Highland, Marissa, North Greene County and Washington County.

Mrs. Crenshaw is club hostess

The Garden Study Club was entertained last week in the home of Mrs. Norma Crenshaw.

The hostess served a dessert luncheon and a tour of her porch garden followed, with a discussion on the different species of flowers now in bloom.

Mrs. C. E. Eads gave the program, "Small plants for Small Areas," and Mrs. Crenshaw reviewed various types of dwarf shrubs.

Members heard plans for District V garden clubs to take part in a workshop, scheduled May 7 at the Nameki Recreation Center.

It was reported a tree was donated and planted by the club at the new Madison Middle School.

Also present were Mrs. Wilmer Winter and Mrs. Carl Hueseman.

Money managing Trio Unit topic

Pat Mitchell, chairman, opened the Trio Unit meeting and 31 members and two guests, Nina Limbaugh and Virginia Little, gave the Pledge to the Flag. Alice Pfoender and Genevieve Hill gave a lesson on "Money Management."

"Control your money; don't let your money control you," they advised. "It is up to the entire family to participate in discussing wants and needs. Then, set some priorities and goals."

"A successful spending and saving plan can help you live within your income, achieve financial goals, reduce impulse spending, live better today, have more satisfaction tomorrow, make wiser choices among the alternatives available, and gain confidence in handling your financial affairs."

Vivian Forshee, health and safety chairman, gave a report on epilepsy, stressing that it can be controlled with medication and a doctor's supervision.

Helen Townse, cultural arts chairman, demonstrated items to be taught on Craft Day, May 5 at 9:30 a.m. Each is to bring a sack lunch that day.

Pat Mitchell announced the annual achievement meeting will be held in Highland, April 30 at 9:30 a.m. D. Oldani is to be the speaker. The local group will meet at Hope Lutheran Church at 8:30 a.m.

The district meeting is to be held in Edwardsville, May 13 at 11 a.m., with a discussion and luncheon at Rusty's and then a tour of the County Museum and the new County Jail.

The unit is planning a trip to St. Charles on April 21, meeting at the church at 9:30 a.m.

Naomi Chapman, recreation chairman, led a game pertaining to April showers and May flowers. Prizes were awarded to Lucille Sackett, Alice Pfoender and Virginia Little. Hostesses were Bera Carey, Roberta Feder and Bea Rittenhouse.

Summer institute for area students

A summer institute for talented high school students, the first of its kind in the local area, will open in June at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Deadline for applications is May 8.

Unlike a regular summer school class — or a summer session concentrating on a special interest or particular subject — the SIUE Summer Institute is a three-part program of learning activities.

It will challenge the talented student to go outside a textbook or classroom to learn how various fields of knowledge relate to one another, said Thomas Shea, coordinator.

Using that broad interrelationship, the student can then find out how man uses knowledge to solve problems in any age, he said. The program begins with the interrelated studies and encourages the student to follow his own interests or find new ones in the primary studies, the in-depth program in humanities, science and social sciences. He may move from broad moral issues in literature and art to a particular lesson in creative writing, for example.

The third part of the learning process will come from the student's actual experience with the real world of computer centers, libraries, television and radio studios or nature trails, Shea said.

The entire program is also integrated with four episodes in the history of Western civilization. Shea selected the ages because they are significant for contemporary society and because each begins an area of change — from the battle of Actium in 31 B.C. and the coronation of Charlemagne in 800 to the fall of the Bastille in 1789 and the bombing of Hiroshima in 1945.

The Summer Institute, which seeks to "challenge, excite, involve and exhaust" all who attend, is open to B-average or better students who will be high school sophomores, juniors in the fall of 1981. Registration fee is $75, plus supplies.

Classes will meet 19 hours a week from June 22 through July 17, with a holiday on July 17. Hours are 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. daily, with three free afternoons a week.

For additional information or application forms, interested persons may contact Thomas Shea at Box 474, SIUE, Edwardsville 62026 or call 692-3896.

Prospective students will be notified of acceptance by May 15.

COIN CLUB'S SHOW.

FLEA MARKET SUNDAY
The Land of Lincoln Coin and Stamp Club will sponsor its monthly flea market and craft show Sunday at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

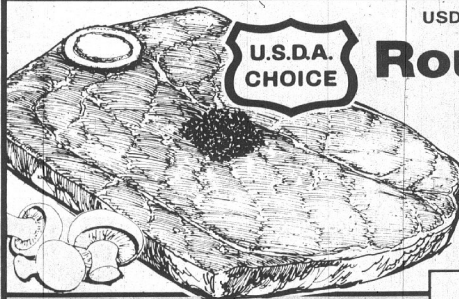

The public is invited. Admission, is free.

Collectors also are invited to attend club meetings, which are scheduled on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the same location.

Republican Women plan county event

Plans for the Granite City Republican Women's Club (GCRWC) to participate in the Madison County Republican Confederation meeting April 20 at the Quality Inn in Godfrey were confirmed at their executive committee meeting last week.

The Alton Club will host the county event and Mrs. Doris Detering will serve as chairman. An attendance banner will be awarded for the largest delegation. Reservations are due by April 16, and more information may be obtained by calling 876-5748.

It also was announced there will be a quarterly board meeting April 28 at Burn's Cafeteria. A "Tribute to Women" will be the theme for a regular meeting on May 6 and past presidents will be honored. The club is planning a trip to Springfield May 7 and 8. Club President Vernice Walters may be contacted at 876-5748 for more information.

$1 million ticket bought at Reese's

Mrs. Thelma M. Nintemann, wife of St. Louis Police Captain George Nintemann, was the winner of $1 million in the Illinois lottery, it was announced Wednesday.

Mrs. Nintemann said the winning ticket was purchased at Reese's Drug Store, 3216 Nameoki Road, Granite City.

Illinois officials said there are about four $1 million awards each year. About 15 million tickets originally were sold in the game Mrs. Nintemann won. She will receive $50,000 per year for 20 years.

GOVERNOR TESTIFIES FOR BLOCK GRANTS

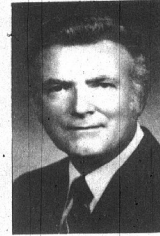

Governor James R. Thompson testified before a Congressional subcommittee in Washington, Tuesday in favor of switching federal health assistance to states from categorical funding to block grants. He spoke to the Health Subcommittee of the House Energy and Commerce Committee.

Gov. Thompson, long an advocate of funding such programs through block grants, supported the proposal presented to Congress by President Ronald Reagan.

Holy Week services

Holy Week will be highlighted by a three-day observance at St. John United Church of Christ, 2801 Nameoki Road. Founded in 1862, on its present site, St. John Church is the oldest church in Granite City.

On Thursday, April 16, a Maundy Thursday worship service will be held in the sanctuary at 7:30 p.m. A Tenebrae service will be conducted by Interim Pastor Sheldon Culver. The Tenebrae is a service of darkness of matins and lauds for the last three days of Holy Week commemorating the sufferings and death of Christ. Holy Communion will be celebrated at the Tenebrae service. "I Wonder Why" by Avery and Marsh will be sung by the Chancel Choir under the direction of Mr. Alan Milster, organist and choir director.

Private sanctuary meditation will be offered to parishioners and the public on Good Friday, April 17, when the sanctuary will be open from noon until 3 p.m. Persons may enter the sanctuary at any time for quiet prayer and vigil.

Three worship services have been planned for Easter Sunday, April 19. A sunrise service, which is scheduled for 6:30 a.m., will feature bassoon music by Miss Robin Robertson, a member of St. John and a member of the St. Louis Junior Symphony. Pastor Culver's message is entitled "Christ Is All and in All." Two identical services are planned for 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Organist Milster will play "Choral in A Minor" by Cesar Franck, "O Sons and Daughters, Let Us Sing" by David Johnson, and "The Strife is O'er" by Flor Peeters. The Chancel Choir will perform "Christus Resurrexit" by Gordon Young and "The Day of Resurrection" by Thomas Matthews.

The public is invited to worship at St. John Church during this season of Lent and Easter tide.

Job's Daughters honor parents

At the International Order of Job's Daughters, Bethel 43, meeting last week, an initiation was held. Laura and Sara Jean Hileman, Sandy Rozell, Leslie Tindell, Carol Reinhardt and Pam Browning were all initiated. Parents of the girls were honored by queen Teri Roberson, the mothers receiving flowers and the fathers were given a package of seeds.

During the meeting, the daughters nominated the DeMolay for Beau Brummel. They will vote for Beau Brummel at an April 11 dance, to be held at the Granite City Township building.

Teri Roberson and Susan Beasley entertained the group with a duet entitled "What's Wrong with My Children", followed by refreshments. Catapillars on clothespins were given as favors.

Those escorted and introduced were: Deputy Grand Guardian Mrs. Anna Green, Past Queen and Grand Bethel Choir Gine Fox, Vice Associate Grand Guardian Martin Love, Guardian Mrs. Rebecca Slate and Associate Guardian Ralph Baker.

Neighborhood Society plants new trees

The Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society held a special Spring Tree Planting session last week. There were 14 adults and their children present.

The trees were bought to replace those that were destroyed last year by vandalism. Funds for this project were appropriated by the Granite City Council. Forty-four trees were planted in the 2100 blocks of Edison and Delmar avenues, on 21st and 22nd streets, and in the 2200 blocks of Cleveland Blvd. and Delmar Avenue with approval from the city council and utility companies.

At the time of planting, permission was granted by respective homeowners and they will be responsible for care of the trees.

The society members expressed their appreciation for the cooperation and enthusiasm received from those who participated.

NEW TREES are planted by members of the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society last week, replacing those cut down by vandals during the past winter. Forty-four new trees were planted by the group along the 2100 blocks of Edison and Delmar avenues, and the 2200 blocks of Cleveland Boulevard and Delmar Avenue.

New hope for allergy sufferers

(Illinois) There is encouraging news this spring for the 35 million allergy sufferers.

The research news deals with the basic understanding of how and why the allergic response works. Out of this knowledge may come a key to the treatment and prevention of the pesky behavior which includes sneezing, itching, coughing, tearing and other irritations.

Here is the biological, or biochemical, scenario, thanks to the investigation of scientists at The John Hopkins University (Baltimore, Md.) and Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation (La Jolla, Calif.).

Pollen is inhaled, activating the body's immune or defense system.

"T" (for thymus-derived) cells in the blood and tissues give off substances which control production of antibodies called immunoglobulin E (IgE).

Normally, "T" cells cause IgE to be manufactured in small amounts. But in allergy sufferers, too much is produced.

The IgE molecules attach themselves to receptors in another part of the complex immune mechanism. The so-called "mast cells" normally catch pollen granules as they circulate by.

The captured particles then become like a bridge between pairs of IgE molecules. One result is the release of histamine, a powerful chemical, which makes a normal person sneeze.

In an allergic individual, where there is an overproduction of IgE, there occurs a release or buildup of too much histamine. Result: repeated and prolonged sneezing.

Dr. David H. Kay, of the Scripps Clinic summarized: "If at the body's starting point for allergies we can understand how T cells function, and how their IgE control substances work, we may be able to produce drugs that will stop reaction—at the source."

WINNER of the Knights of Columbus spelling bee for parochial schools in Madison County was Laura DeRuntz of Granite City, representing Tri-Cities Council 1098. Second place went to Mindi Burghoff, representing Bethalto Council 4688, left, and third place went to Jennifer Ave, representing Collinsville Chapter 1712, right. The spelling bee was hosted by the Edwardsville chapter at the KC hall there during the weekend. The announcer was George Halsey, principal of the Edwardsville Junior High School.

Bermuda grass control method

By RONALD CORNWELL, County Farm Adviser

Bermuda grass is a perennial grass that usually reproduces by rootstocks or stolons. The grass has a creeping habit.

Some people use bermuda grass as a lawn grass. However, bermuda grass spreads easily and can become a real problem once it invades a bluegrass lawn. In a bluegrass lawn, bermuda grass becomes a serious weed.

There are no chemicals available that will selectively remove bermuda grass from a bluegrass lawn. The only approach to ridding an area of bermuda grass is to use a non-selective chemical which will kill everything sprayed with the chemical.

The area can be overseeded with bluegrass once the chemical residues have dissipated. Refer to the product labels to determine waiting time before reseeding.

The chemicals suggested for non-selective control include glyphosate, roundup, which is now available in homeowner formulations; dalapon and amilor.

For additional information on lawn weed control problems, Quad-Citizens may contact the University of Illinois Extension Service office in Edwardsville and request a free copy of Circular 1076, "1981 Turfgrass Pest Control."

Plan EOC course on energy

Forty employees of the Madison County EOC Weatherization Program will receive special training through the SIUE School of Science and Technology and Office of Continuing Education is to increase ability to understand the national energy crisis and ways of dealing with it.

According to Dr. Ik-Ju Kang, chairman of the SIUE Physics Department, and developer of the special course, participants will be exposed to basic heat gain and loss principles, a technique of combining more than one insulation material to gain an effect known as superinsulation, methods in understanding and explaining the codes used by utility companies on their energy bills, and extensive coverage of alternative energy sources such as wind, geothermal, and solar power.

The class will meet for five weeks and participants will receive a certificate of completion from SIUE. The program will be coordinated by Professor McAnney of the Physics Department.

The idea of holding the class was suggested by Mary Samson, the EOC Weatherization director. We expect it to be of great value to our program and our clients," she said. Those involved at the university are as enthusiastic about it as we are."

Church guild plans luncheon

The Afternoon Guild of St. John Church of Christ met at the Eden Retirement Center in Edwardsville last week for a luncheon and tour of the center.

There were 26 members and five guests present. The guests were Florence Blette, Helen Broadway, Harriet Bunselmeyer, Bessie Knipping, and Bertha Slaper.

The April birthdays of Virginia Farrance, Ruth McDonald, Sophie Pufalt, Katherine Roman and Mayne Willard were observed.

Before the tour, general chairman Karmyn Edmonds gave a short devotional.

In a brief business meeting, plans for the May Day program and luncheon were discussed. The afternoon and evening guilds will host the May 7 luncheon, based on the theme, "Spirit of the Lord Fosters and Unites." Tickets are available at all participating churches. The cost will be $1.75 each.

Ethel Holtzner will serve as chairman, with Lorraine Bischoff, Marvel Clover, Ellen Ehler, Gracie Morgan and Valara Schorheide on the committee.

EGG USE BY ILLINOIS RESIDENTS IS RISING
In 1980, Illinois citizens consumed more than 2.2 billion eggs, an average of 155 eggs for every man, woman and child. Bob Madison, president of the Illinois Poultry Industry Council, said this week.

Between 1976 and 1980, egg consumption rose more than 16 percent in Illinois.

In Good Spirits!
by GEORGE CREWS

Adventure not mystique is beginning to be a key phrase in American wine drinking. Though not as accustomed to having a bottle of wine on the table as Europeans, Americans tend to be more adventuresome in their wine samplings. Europeans often tend to drink only the wines which are produced in their own region. Americans will usually have tried a Chablis from France, a Chianti from Italy and a Riesling from Germany, along with some of the many different wines produced in California. By sampling many different wines we have also come to realize enjoying wine is not a mysterious, complicated rite. All you need to enjoy a good bottle of wine is a corkscrew and two glasses... sharing makes it better.

Girl Scouts earn badges

Junior Girl Scout Troop 581 concluded this year with a poster campaign aimed at cleaning up the environment. The scouts have been working towards sport sampler, tending toddlers, community health, and first aid and safety badges during this past year. The first aid badges were merited with the aid of special classes conducted by Bill St. Peter, a paramedic with the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department. Other activities included the Festival of Giving Parade and a mother-daughter banquet hosted by the girls. Badges will be presented to the girls at the Court of Awards ceremony in April.

Nine earn associate degrees

Nine Granite City residents were among 152 students who received associate degrees from Belleville Area College upon the completion of the winter term.

Associate of science degrees were awarded to Kim R. Buster, 2581 Spaulding, Richard T. Carney, 4117 Edgewood; Nancy G. Edwards, 3941 Village Lane; and James E. Thomas, 3944 Myrtle Ave. William A. Dalton, 2036 Washington Ave., received an associate of applied science degree in aviation maintenance technology.

Other associate of applied science degrees were awarded to David S. Wolfe, 2614 Benton, construction management technology; Junior C. Mathis, 54 Villa Drive, fire science; and Jeffery C. Judge, 2654 Adams, and Stanley C. Myers, 2628 Iowa, both in law enforcement.

In addition to the associate degrees awarded, BAC students earned 198 certificates of proficiency and of completion.

GUEST SPEAKER FOR ELITE HAIRDRESSERS

Carla Billelo of KMS Products will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Elite Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, scheduled April 20 at 6:30 p.m.

The event will take place at the Granite City School of Beauty Culture, 1815 Edison Ave. All area beauticians are invited to attend, according to Loretta Brown, chairman. Additional information about the program may be obtained by calling 676-5432.

Nameoki winners are Briggs, Macios, Mehelic, but other races remain too close to call yet

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Harry A. Briggs, former Nameoki Township supervisor for 16 years, appears to have won that office back in Tuesday night's balloting in Nameoki Township, defeating opponent Richard Kismir by an unofficial tally of 1,633 to 1,313.

The results, however, are very tentative, since in two of the township's 12 precincts, there are obvious errors, such as candidates receiving fewer total votes than the number of straight party votes cast for their parties. The unofficial results appear on page 11 of today's Press-Record.

One race hanging on the outcome of the canvass now underway is the race between

Film on Christ to be shown

"Jesus," film on the life of Christ — shot on the actual Biblical locations throughout the Holy Land — will be shown Sunday, April 12 and Wednesday, April 15 at 7 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th and Madison Avenue.

"Jesus" adheres to the account of Christ's life as chronicled in the New Testament gospel of Luke, which is acknowledged to be the most complete story of Christ of all the four gospels.

"Other films on Christ have been made by people who have thought it necessary to write a screenplay and embellish the gospels...but the language of the scriptures has endured longer than any screenplay ever will," notes John Heyman, the film's producer.

RICHARD MATT

R. A. Matt new cashier at Colonial

The board of directors at Colonial Bank of Granite City named Richard A. Matt as cashier during its March meeting.

In making the announcement, Donald E. Van Horn, president, noted that Matt comes to Colonial Bank with nearly 20 years of banking experience with a broad knowledge in bank operations. "We are extremely fortunate to find someone with Mr. Matt's qualifications to head our operations."

Matt began his banking career in 1961 at Lema Bank and Trust Company, South St. Louis County. He later joined St. Louis County Bank, Clayton, where he held various management positions, one of which was cashier of a subsidiary bank, First National Bank of Arnold, Mo.

Matt said, "I am impressed with Granite City and along with my wife, Evelyn, daughter Jeanne, and son Richard Jr., I am looking forward to moving into the community."

ween Tax Collector Freida Ballew and challenger Norman Hall. The unofficial figures show Mrs. Ballew winning 1554 to 1475, but, based upon conflicting figures from Nameoki Precincts One and Eight from poll watchers, Hall would be the winner.

Whether W. Lee Adams of the United With Progress Party has earned a seat on the four-member board of trustees or whether the full Progressive Action Party slate was elected also is yet to be decided by the canvass.

In the figures phoned to Town Clerk by the poll judges, the top four trustees were Helen Hawkins with 1,713 votes, Don M. Wilson with 1,638, Joseph Garcia with 1,572 and W. Lee Adams with 1,507.

Langenstein is fifth with 1,456 votes, but the poll watchers contend the correct figures will put Langenstein over Adams, giving the Progressive Action Party a clean sweep.

Trustees who appear to have lost their seats are Andy Besserman with 1,485 votes, Jerry L. Adams with 1,375, and James F. Counts with 1,190.

In an upset, Donald L. Ridgeway of the Progressive Action group appears to have won Town Clerk Douglas Teetor, but has only a seven vote edge, 1,527 to 1,520, while Tax Assessor Carl Macios of the United With Progress Party has a comfortable lead in his bid for re-election with 1,641 votes compared to 1,475 for David Partney.

Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic enjoys a comfortable 1,707 to 1,401 edge over his opponent for highway commissioner, the current supervisor of the township, Harold Davis. Mehelic ran on the Progressive Action Party.

In Chouteau Township balloting, voters showed a preference for the incumbent dominated United Township Party, led by Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks, electing every member of the party, despite strong opposition from the Chouteau Independent Party, headed by Peyton Favia.

Granite City schools win drafting prizes

Granite City High School North sponsored an Illinois Technical Drafting Teachers' Association (ITDTA) drafting contest in which six schools participated.

Collinsville AVC, Granite City High School North, Granite City High School South, Highland, Madison and Wood River-East Alton participated in the competition.

The contest was divided into three areas: 15 students in introductory drawing, 12 in machine and 15 in architectural drawing.

Granite schools were successful in taking the first three places in introductory drawing and the first two places in machine drawing.

The winners in introductory drawing were David

Lumpkins of Granite City High School North, Richard Zabawa and Vince Paschdag of Granite City High School South in second and third.

In the machine drawing area, Mike Lewis and Kenny Shup of Granite City High School North placed first and second. Jeff Eggemeyer of Collinsville placed third.

Randy Kistler from Collinsville won first place in the architectural drawing and second place was won by Terry Frank, also from Collinsville.

These winners received prizes, and are eligible to take part in the state drafting competition, to be held May 2 at the University of Illinois.

Conference to explore Alternative Education

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

"The Wisdom of Opt" is the theme of a state-type conference on Options in Alternative Education being held Friday and Saturday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The two-day series of seminars and general sessions, the first of its type to be held in Illinois, is being sponsored by the Coordinated Youth Services of Granite City, Southwest Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, Illinois State Board of Education and SIUE.

Registration will take place in the SIUE University Center from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Friday, followed by welcoming remarks and introductions at 1 p.m.

The first general session at 1:30 p.m. Friday will feature a keynote address by Dr. Charles Weingartner, a professor of education at the University of South Florida at Tampa and a noted author.

Among his many publications are such works as: "Linguistics: A Revolution in Teaching; Teaching as a Subversive Activity; Language in America; The Soft Revolution and The School Book, all of which were co-authored by Dr. Neil Postman.

Keynote speaker at the second general session starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, will be Dr. Mary Anne Raywid, chairman of the Department of Educational Foundations at Hofstra University in Hempstead, N.Y.

Dr. Raywid has served as editor for the National Education Association, a teacher at Evanston Township High School and teacher in the Americanization School in Washington, D.C.

Since 1976, she has been the director of the John Dewey Society National Project on Alternative Education. She is author of "The Ax-Grinders and numerous articles in educational journals."

Concurrent interaction sessions and student seminars will take place from 2:45 p.m. until 4 p.m. Friday and will be repeated in two separate sessions Saturday between 10 a.m. and 12:15 p.m.

The interaction sessions will focus upon such topics as: "Funding Alternative Education Programs; State Policy on Alternative Education; Curriculum Standards; Due Process-

Students' Rights and Responsibilities; Learning Styles.

Counseling in Alternative Schools; Joint Projects; The Role of University in Alternative Education; Versus Alternative Education; Library Media Services in Alternative Education.

Student seminars will deal with Governance in Alternative Schools; Students and the Curriculum; and Student Exchange Network.

Simultaneous panel discussions will be offered from 1:45 p.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Panelists will discuss: The Regional Superintendent's Responsibility in Alternative Education; Legislation on Alternative Education; Philosophy Alternative Education; Alternative Schools in the Community.

Primarily responsible for arranging the conference were Donna Daisy, coordinator of the Coordinated Youth Services' Alternative School in Granite City; Harold Briggs, District Superintendent of Schools for Madison County; Dr. Bill McClard of the Illinois State Board of Education; Dr. Robert Fizzell of Western Illinois University; Dr. Stefan Krichnak of SIUE; and C. A. MacMillan, CYS executive director.

Local Alternative School staff members also involved in the conference, include Shirley Blasingame, Kim Chapin, Nina Fainoli, Barbara MacDonald, Susan McColligan, Theresa Fashee, Renee Ratkiewicz, Donna Staggs, David Sklar and Dora McCormick.

Law enforcement and juvenile officers, social and youth workers, counselors, teachers, students and parents and school administrators are among those invited to attend the conference.

Participation is open to anyone interested, Mrs. Daisy said.

Sparks won with 1,103 votes to 876 for Pavia and Town Clerk Patricia Polley of Sparks' party won 1,065 to 92 over Bertis Maynard.

Tax Collector Cletus Bedwell of the United Township Party defeated Michael Carter, 1,187 to 914, while Tax Assessor Marion Sparks defeated Darroll

Daughterty for that post 1,059 to 937.

Highway Commissioner Wilfred "Bud" Eberhart kept his job with a 1,116 to 882 victory over Arthur LaRose.

Of the eight trustee candidates, the United Township Party won the four available seats. Thomas Johnson proved the top vote getter with 1,051 votes, trailed by Josephine Burgener with 1,016, Dudley Luebbeck with 957 and Steve Novot with 932.

Trailing were Juanita Barnes with 914, Golden Barton with 910, Robert Leckrone with 887 and Joseph Stefanoff with 872.

PONTOON BEACH

The three party-supported candidates in Pontoon Beach were re-elected easily. The incumbent, Donald C. Rea, received 343 votes, Robert E. Vincent got 325 and Robert D. Abel 322. Mrs. M. Joyce Hastings trailed with 189. Full precinct-by-precinct tallies appear on page 11.

Discuss routes 3, 100 as part of river road

Cong. Melvin Price met with State Senator Sam Vadalabene and Cong. Paul Findley in Washington to discuss plans for designation of Routes 3 and 100 between Hartford and Grafton as part of the Great River Road system.

"At present the Great River Road runs along the Missouri side of the Mississippi in our area," Cong. Price said, "but the more scenic views of the river are on the Illinois side."

Designating the Illinois side as a spur to the system would advise motorists that an alternate route exists and would also give greater exposure to the new Lewis &

Clark Park and Pere Marquette State Park.

In addition, federal funds available under the National System and Recreational Highway Program would be available to projects along a spur route.

Reps. Price and Findley assured Senator Vadalabene of their cooperation in studying the proposal and sponsoring the necessary legislation.

Steelers keep hex on Wood River alive

By TOM SCHOCKER

GRANITE CITY — Norris Dorsey is desperately trying to solve a problem. One that has plagued him for nine years. How can he find a way to beat Granite City North?

As head baseball coach at Wood River, Dorsey is yet to find the answer. After North's 8-6 victory over the Oilers here Wednesday, Dorsey will have to wait another year.

"It's just automatic when we come down here that Granite City North beats us," said Dorsey. "You'd think that we could win one by accident. I don't believe we've EVER beaten North."

Steeler starting pitcher Paul Eads and the North batting corps made sure their team would make it nine in a row. Eads, although one of the smallest members on the North squad, threw nothing but smoke for four innings. He was backed by some fine defensive plays. Mark Hessler's diving leap to spear a shot, turning it into a double play, prevented one possible Oiler run and Rick Buer's long run to catch a fly ball in centerfield ended another Wood River inning. But the Oilers didn't give up and finally solved Eads' thanks in part to an error.

The Steelers had built a 4-0 margin and Eads looked strong in the fifth inning with two outs and only one on. But an error opened the gates and Wood River poured three runs across the plate.

"We are still basically making unsound errors," said North head coach Bob Stegemeier. "Paul (Eads) is big in heart, but not very big in statue and I think he just got tired."

Vince Mitchell had to come in and bail Eads out. It turned out to be just in time. North still had the lead and Eads was looking for his first win of the year. The Steeler bats did not disappoint him.

Dan Patterson grabbed the fourth RBI with a solo homer. It was like Buer's blast, but it had a little more pizazz on it. There was no reason why the Steelers should stop now and they didn't. As soon as Wood River drew close, Keith Flaughner took his turn. Corey and Daren DePew quickly got the Steeler of fence cranked up again with back-to-back singles to open the fifth inning. With the runners in position, Flaughner used and blasted a three-run poke over the rightfield fence. It was the eventual winning hit.

"Our pitching just couldn't keep the ball down," said Dorsey. "When they (North) hit the ball, it seemed to go through. But, North knows they are going to beat Wood River, because they always have."

Buer provided the final RBI, his second of the game, for the Steelers in the sixth with another base hit. And for the ninth straight year, the book was closed on the Oilers. "We have always had good success against Wood River," said Stegemeier. "I don't know what the reason is. But, it always fun to beat Dorsey. We went to school together and we have built quite a rivalry."

For a team that wasn't supposed to have much this year, North, now at 5-2, seems to be doing everything right. "I know we beat a good ball club today," said Stegemeier. The Oilers were undefeated coming into the game. "I'm just tickled to death," he added.

North bombs South

GRANITE CITY — The latest chapter and the first edition of the spring sports season in the Granite City North and Granite City South rivalry took place at the South track field here Wednesday. The Steelers dominated the field and ran away with a 78-66 score to capture the meet.

South started off strong with a win the 3200 meter relay race, but North came right back and grabbed the 400 meter relay. North's Bruce DeRuntz kept the pressure up, winning the 2200 meters with time of 10:26.43. Dave McLean pulled in second for South and Jeff Taylor for the Warriors came in third.

The assault continued when Tim Rozoyki for the Steelers captured the high hurdles. His time was 14.96 seconds. Pat Collins for South was second and Wayne Peterson of North came in third.

South finally pulled off a first place in the 100 meter dash. Don Keeling of the Warriors took the win, place with a time of 10.94. Doug Sheppard of North was second and Mark McWhorter of the Steelers pulled in third.

South's comeback was strong as Drew Giesler of South won the 800 meter run with a time of 2:07.15. North's Jon Bunch came in second and Tim Dix added some extra points for South placing third.

North quickly ended the Warrior's point production by taking the 800 meter relay. The Steeler's winning time was 1:39.17.

The Warrior's continued to fall behind as North took two out of the three places in the 400 meter dash. McWhorter took first for the Steelers with a time of 54.93 seconds. Dix for South was second and another Steeler in Glenn Thompson was third.

Rozoyki took command of the hurdles winning the 300 meter. His time was 41.76. South a second and Peterson of North was third.

Drew Giesler won his second event of the for South as he took the 1600 meter run with a time of 4:43.6. DeRuntz was second for North and McLean for South was third.

Keeling captured another first for the Warriors as he took the 200 meter dash. His winning time was 22.51 seconds. North's Jon Bunch was second and Rich Mophard was third for the Warriors.

The Steelers were supreme in the relay's winning the 1600 meter. Their time was 3:39.16.

The field events was practically all South. The Warriors' Keeling and Mophard placed one-two in the long jump. Keeling was first with a leap of 20 feet, seven and half inches. Mike Long for North placed third. The Steelers couldn't break into the triple jump event. South took all three point places. Scott Buhmann won it with a jump of 42 feet. Collins was second and Brian Pithers placed third.

There was a two-way tie for first in the high jump. Pithers of South and Davis of North each cleared six feet, two inches.

The heavy events belong to North. The Steelers' Long won the discus with a throw of 139 feet, eight inches. Dave Renssing of North was second and another Steeler, Mike Jackson, placed third. North still looked strong winning two of the three places in the shot put. Again Long was dominate winning the event with a heave of 55 feet, six inches. Jeff Deaves of South placed second and Jackson of North was third.

The Steelers just couldn't be stopped. They took two more point places in the pole vault. Bob Meyer of North won with a leap of 12 feet. Teammate Mike Robinson was second and South pulled in third.

South holds on to beat Hazelwood East

GRANITE CITY — It was a game Granite City South coach John Modica expected his team to win. But then, he expects it to win every game. Modica wasn't disappointed here Wednesday. South scored three runs in the first inning and made them stand up enroute to a 4-2 non-conference victory over Hazelwood East.

"I figured we'd win this one," said Modica. "At least I was HOPING we would. It was a big one. It got us back to 500 (5-5-1) and we showed some pretty good pitching and defense. But I was a little disappointed in our hitting."

South got enough hits. And it made good use of them. Take the three-run third inning, for instance. South rightfielder Kenny Wilson walked. He moved over to second when teammate Dan Modrusic bunted safely. Then John Linhart singled, driving in Wilson. Third baseman Rick Daily stroked a single between the diving Hazelwood third baseman and shortstop to load the bases with nobody out. After Troy McIlroy struck out, Warrior centerfielder Scott Greathouse doubled, scoring Modrusic and Linhart.

But Daily, who tried to score from first on the play, was thrown out at the plate in a crushing collision with East catcher Keith Estall. Daily lowered his left shoulder and barreled into Estall in an effort to make him drop the ball. The Spartan's receiver held onto the ball, however, for the second out, although the play was a bit wacky after the bang-bang play. Daily was ejected from the game for not making an attempt to slide on the play.

After the first, the two teams settled down to what looked like a pretty decent pitching duel. South starter Steve Manka worked the first four innings and looked good. The two runs he gave up in the fourth inning were unearned. In fact, Hazelwood East didn't get a hit in the frame. Spartan pitcher Greg Baat walked, as did Estall. They moved to second and third on a balk by Manka. Shortstop Rich Bagamin hit into a 4-3 fielder's choice, which sacrificed Baat home and moved Estall to third. First baseman Mark Smith then lofted a deep sacrifice fly to centerfield.

But just when it looked like Hazelwood East was ready to close in the gap, South relief pitcher Tom McGowan entered the game in the fifth. He struck out Hazelwood rightfielder Darrel Scherer on his first three pitches of the inning. "Tom came in a did a good job for us in the fifth," said Modica. "He kind of shut them off." McGowan then used two pitches to get designated hitter to pop out to rightfield.

In the sixth inning, Hazelwood appeared to have another rally in the works. With one out, Bagamin hit a solid single up the middle and was a threat to steal second. But McGowan caught him leaning the wrong way and picked him off first base with a fifty second move.

South will face Gateway East Conference rival Belleville Althoff at home this afternoon.

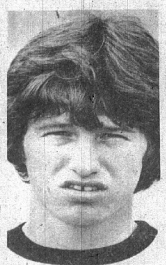

Jones named to National Team

Special to the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Yet another Granite City soccer player has placed his name on the list of greats to come from this speccer-rich community.

Mark Jones, a graduate of Granite City North High and a member of the Belleville Area College soccer team, was named here Tuesday to the United States National Youth Soccer Team. Jones is the second Granite Cityan named to the squad. Tony Pierce, a graduate of Granite City South High and player at the University of Connecticut, was named two weeks ago to one of the two goalie spots on the roster.

Jones, who helped lead BAC to the Illinois junior college championship this season, was notified Tuesday morning. His reaction? "At first I thought it was a joke," said Jones. "But when I realized it wasn't, it was great."

MARK JONES

Jones, the leading scorer in Granite City North history, can play either a forward position or in the backfield, where BAC coach Mike Moore had him playing last season.

Jones, a member of the Illinois Select Team, most likely wouldn't have been chosen for the squad if not for a visit to this area two weeks ago by Bob Chyzowycz (Olympic and National coach) and his assistant, Bob Gandler. They saw Jones in a Illinois vs. Missouri scrimmage at St. Edwardsville and were impressed.

"It's a great honor," said Bob Kehoe, Jones' high school coach at North. "We're just tickled to death here (at North)."

Jones left St. Louis yesterday for Newark, N.J. From there, he will go to New York City where he will meet the other members of the team. They will travel from there tonight to Florence, Italy, where they will stay at the National

South netters win

CAHOKIA — The Granite City South tennis team got off on the right foot as it began play in the Gateway East Conference here Monday. The Warriors improved their overall record to 3-2 with a 7-0 shutout of Cahokia.

Everyone had a relatively easy time winning for South. The Warriors' number one singles, Tom Longue took a 6-1, 6-0 win over Tim Bunch. Now at 1-0 in the conference, the Warriors hope to keep that mark unblemished with another Gateway East hook-up at Belleville Althoff Thursday.

George Sykes had little trouble with Cahokia's third singles player, Mike Jerome. Sykes blitzed Jerome 6-0, 6-0. South's fourth singles, Matt Sheridan made it quick with a 6-1, 6-0 win over Tim Bunch.

Now at 1-0 in the conference, the Warriors hope to keep that mark unblemished with another Gateway East hook-up at Belleville Althoff Thursday.

GRANITE CITY — Nobody — except maybe Class AA state champ Quincy — would dispute the claim that Madison is the basketball capitol of Illinois and vicinity. Just look at what Madison did this season.

The Trojans won the Class A (small school) state championship. They won the Centralia Holiday Tournament. They won the Dupo Tournament. They won the Columbia Regional. They won the Vandavia Sectional. They won the Charleston Super Sectional. They won everything in sight, including 30 ball games against two losses.

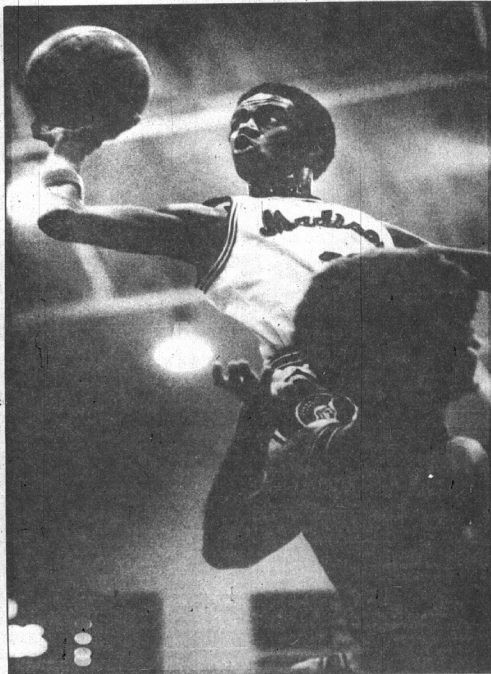

PAT HATTER — He could do it all. Hatter thrilled the Trojan fans with his loose style of play and his patented slam-dunks (he had somewhere around 40 of them this season). The 6-2 senior averaged 19.6 points a game, hauled in 7.8 rebounds a game, had 140 assists, made 68 steals and shot a sizzling 63 percent from the floor. He finished sixth among P-R area scorers. Co-Player of the Year.

MORRIS HUGHES — "Mr. Inside" to Hatter's "Mr. Outside," Hughes was probably the single most valuable player on the Madison squad. When he was in the game and doing his thing, Madison won big. When he was out, they still won, but they had to work a little harder and find a different way to do it. To put it simply, Hughes, a 6-3 senior, was a garbage collector. He picked up offensive rebounds and put them in. Short for a center, he still averaged 11.9 rebounds a game and was tops in the P-R area in rebounding. He averaged 19.4 points a game, shot 66 percent from the floor and 82 percent from the free throw line. Deceptively quick, he had 11 steals.

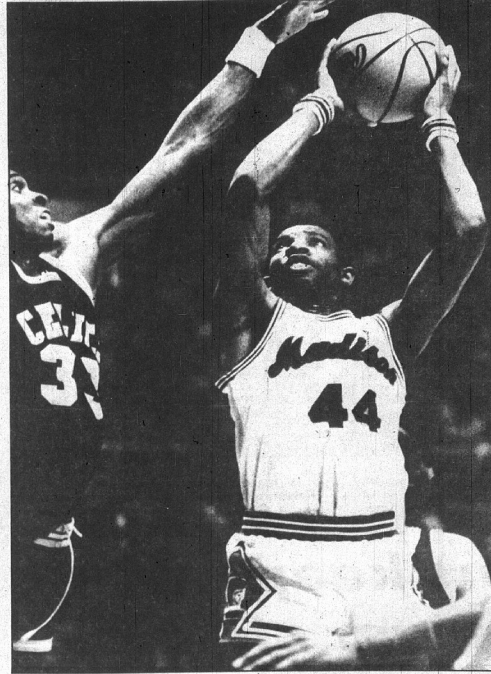

TODD PORTER — He helped lead his team to a 20-4 record this season and the number one ranking in area polls most of the campaign. A 6-5 junior, Porter is one of the most exciting players in the area.

JON COLLINS — Collins was the most valuable player on the Cahokia squad that finished 23-5 and led Edwardsville for first place in the Gateway East Conference. The leading scorer in the P-R area, Collins finished the Cahokia campaign with a 28.5 points per game average. He had 10.4 rebounds per game and shot a sizzling 71 percent from the floor. A deadly mid-range shooter, Collins was one of the most feared players on the Cahokia squad that at one time was ranked tops in the area.

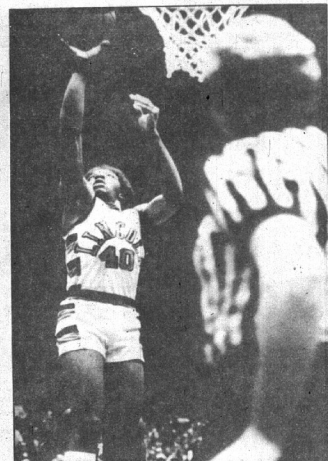

DAN CODDINGTON — Perhaps the hardest working player on the first team — maybe in the area, Coddington, a 6-6 senior, averaged 25.2 points a game this season and pulled in 7.6 rebounds a game. He shot 64 percent from the floor and 77 percent from the free throw line.

Hatter, Hughes coach's dreams

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Patrick Hatter and Morris Hughes. "The Franchise." Without the two, it might be safe to say that Madison's basketball team wouldn't have won the 1981 state Class A championship. But they did. Larry Graham's gonna miss them.

Graham has had the luxury of coaching Hatter and Hughes. The last four years. Next season, another coach'll have the honors.

And most likely, he'll feel as lucky as Graham did. Hughes has been a regular starter since his sophomore year. All three varsity seasons, he's helped lead the Trojans to the "Big House," The University of Illinois Assembly Hall in Champaign where the State Finals are housed. Morris Hughes had to go through a lot in three years. More than would normally be asked of a 15 to 17 year old boy. That's what's so hard for many prep basketball fans to realize — they're just boys out there playing basketball. But they're in the middle of becoming men. Hughes has done it all for the Trojans. He's been "Mr. Basketball" to them. Whenever a basket was desperately needed, he'd be the one they went to.

Take Madison's thrilling victory over top-ranked Providence-New Lenox in the State Quarterfinals at Champaign last month. The game was tied. There were only seven seconds remaining. Madison was taking the ball out of bounds under the New Lenox basket.

Trojan guard Kerwin Stanley dribbled the ball amazingly through the vaulted New Lenox defense the length of the court. He spotted (guess who) Hughes standing all alone under the basket. He hit him with a perfect bounced pass and boom! Hughes made an easy layup and the Trojans won the game.

"It was a pretty play, wasn't it?" asked Graham of reporters after the game.

Hatter's been around as a regular for the last two seasons, even though he could do at the tail end of his sophomore season.

As a shy, skinny sophomore Hatter was described by Graham. "You're gonna hear from this kid," he said.

Absolutely. Hatter (known as "Joe Black" to his teammates) established himself as one of the best shooters and leapers in the state. He almost single-handedly won many games for Madison. Of all the players on the team this season, including Hughes, Hatter was perhaps the most consistent.

One of the best single performances by a high school athlete was given by Hughes last season against Lawrenceville in the Charleston Super Sectional. But this season, Hatter was even better. He and his friend Morris were coach's dreams.

GRANITE CITY — Height. Not always necessary in basketball, but it doesn't hurt to have it.

The second team on this year's Press-Record All Star Basketball Team has height. But the players on the squad aren't the uncoordinated type of big man who used to stand under the basket, waiting for someone to lob it the ball into them.

No, these boys know how to USE their height. And how. The talent in this area was such this season, that selecting first and second All Star teams was a hard task. Here's a look:

TYRONE JACKSON — LINCOLN — A valuable performer, he averaged 15.8 points a game for Coach Bennie Lewis at Lincoln. Combined with Porter, Jackson gives the Tigers a lot to look forward to next season.

CHARLES CLAGGETT — MADISON — Combined with Kerwin Stanley, Claggett gave Madison a tough one-two punch at the guard spots. He averaged 14.5 points a game for Larry Graham and was a vital ingredient in the Trojans' drive to the state championship. A good long shot, he was able to take some of the heat off Patrick Hatter.

KENT PARKER — COLLINSVILLE — It was a lean season for Collinsville. Their favorites finished below .500 for the first time in many a moon. But one bright spot for the Cahoks was the outstanding play of Parker, a familiar name to Collinsville followers. A 6-1 senior, Parker averaged 17.5 points a game.

PAUL SCHAEFER — EDWARDSVILLE — One of the most dominating players in the area, Schaefer burned more than one team with his inside moves and good mid-range shooting. The 6-7 center averaged 18.2 points a game and led the Tigers to a 26-4 season an co-championship of the GEC with Cahokia.

GERALD STEVENSON — LOVEJOY — Even though he had to watch from the stands the first half of the season after transferring from Assumption, Stevenson became a dominating player when he returned to the court. He averaged 22.4 points a game and had 8.5 rebounds.

Honorable mention

GRANITE CITY — Here are the players named to the Press-Record's All Star Honorable Mention list: Archie Waltenberger and George Sykes, Granite City South; Mark Zarr and Kerwin Stanley, Madison; Aaron Rody, Granite City North; Archie Gardner and Harold Milton, Venice; Bruce Dickman, Edwardsville; Terry Shemake, Wood River; Tommy Johnson, East St. Louis; Tony White, East St. Louis; Paul Seiberlich, Highland; Steve Fleming, and Mike Piper, Mount Vernon.

Graham does it...again

Coach of the Year

LARRY GRAHAM has a way of sneaking up on you.

Graham, the head basketball coach at Madison High School, has quietly built a dynasty there. When his team captured the 1981 state Class A (small) championship last month in Champaign, it was its second in five years. The Trojans have advanced to the "Elite Eight" the last three years. They have been among the "Final Four" three times, coming back to Madison with two first place trophies and one fourth place trophy. Only Lawrenceville has a better record — two firsts and a fourth. What can Graham, the Press-Record Coach of the Year for the second straight season, do for an encore? He's done it all this season. His team won two invitational tournaments, the Columbia Regional Tournament, the Vandavia Sectional Tournament and the Charleston Super Sectional over Lawrenceville. Perhaps the most amazing accomplishment besides the state title for Madison this season was its championship in the Centralia Christmas Tournament. The Centralia Tournament is one of the oldest prep tournaments in the country. Its champions have been the likes of Chicago Marley (last year's state Class AA champion), Collinsville, Centralia, Mount Vernon, Chicago Marist. Players like Dike Eddleman, Russell Cross, Doug Collins, Johnny Orr and Lou Boudreau have played in it.

What's next? Some have mentioned that Graham is the heir-apparent to Jim Dudley at SIU-Edwardsville. But the job isn't open and nobody in any official capacity has talked about it. Some said he would go to SIU-Carbondale, but that didn't happen. Some even mentioned Teutopolis High School. Of course, that didn't occur.

There will most likely always be rumors about where a successful coach is moving on to.

Pelek happy with life in 'big time'

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record
COLUMBIA — The stars seem to get all the credit and all the print. There is really nothing said unless you are able to come up with the outstanding performance. Leo Pelek is trying to make amends to that problem on the University of Missouri football team.

In high school, Pelek was a good football player. He did his job, but during his time at Granite City North, he was overshadowed by such stars as Fred Clay and Greg Corey. Pelek felt he was sort of an understudy to them. He really didn't get a lot of publicity. He knew he had the talent. So did a number of college scouts.

The University of Colorado was one of the schools that recruited Pelek and he decided to give the Buffaloes a shot. But according to Leo, the arrangements set up by the recruiter turned out to be kind of a "snuff job".

After graduating from North in 1977, Pelek visited the Colorado during the summer as a vacation. "At that time Bill Malorey was the head coach," said Leo. "The recruiter that talked to me called me up before I left and informed me that he was leaving to take up the head defensive coordinating job at the University of Michigan. But, he said I should still go out there and talk to the coach."

"When I got there, it was like nobody knew who I was. I was left out in the cold."

The experience didn't sit very well with Pelek. He decided to stay out of school for a while and try a couple of the other colleges that had looked at him.

"I had offers from UCLA, Georgia and Arkansas," said Pelek. The second try at finding a place to play football was equally disappointing. He took a chance with Arkansas.

"There was a lot of coaching problems at Arkansas," said Leo. "When the guy at Colorado left, he took all my game films. So, Leo Hultz, the head coach at Arkansas, didn't get to see my films." This was the last straw for Pelek and his decision to stay out of school last for two years.

Those years gave Pelek enough time to make his final choice. It turned out that the third time would be a charm. He thought it out and his best bet was to keep it in the family. It may sound corny, but Pelek grew up and played football just like dear old dad — as a Missouri Tiger.

"When I was a kid I saw just about every Missouri football game," said Leo. "My dad played there between 1954 and 1958 and his dream was for me to someday play for Mizzou. So, it was almost like an honor. I always thought about playing there and really wanted to play football. After the deal with Colorado, I wanted to prove that I was able to play in the Big-8 Conference."

Leo decided that 1979 was to be the year he would go back to school and football. He walked on that spring and made the squad. It wasn't much playing time, but he was on the team. "I was put on the specialty teams," said Leo. "I didn't see any action at all, but I did get in on one kick off when Missouri was in the Hall of Fame game."

Pelek's progress with the Tigers continued to improve. In his sophomore year, he made the traveling team and ended up lettering varsity. "I got in enough quarters to letter," said Pelek. "I think 30 quarters is equivalent to lettering and I played 40. I even got to play out on the specialty teams during the Liberty Bowl."

Now as a junior, Pelek is battling with Kevin Potter for the starting strong safety position. "It's a tight competition," said Leo. "Kevin is a three year starter from Sordan High School in St. Louis. Potter is a hell of an athlete. He's got good strength, but I have a couple of records in the weight room, too. I have good speed, but he's got exceptional. I'll keep plugging away and give him a shot."

During the Tigers' spring practice, Leo was with the second team. As an experimenter, the coaches have moved the second team defensive backs, which Leo is a part of, with the first team defensive line. "This is only scrimmages," said Pelek. "I don't know when

LEO PELEK JR.

I'll move up, but the coaches told me to hang in there and stick it out.

"I'm very happy to be where I'm at and I don't have any regrets." It's not to his riches story, but Leo Pelek did have to work to where he is now. And it was all to prove a point. "A lot of people in high school didn't think I could get as far as I have gotten," explained Pelek. "I'm not taking anything away from Clay or Corey. They were great athletes and deserved everything they did. But, I wanted to prove that I could do what they did in high school in college."

According to Leo, he had a lot of desire, determination and the talent to play big time football. However, one of his biggest duties, he felt, was to his parents. "I wanted to make the old parents kind of happy," said Pelek. "They have taken care of me quite a bit and I wanted to repay them. I wanted to make myself better and make my parents feel better."

"Life is not over after high school. You can measure time and speed, but you can't measure the size of a man's heart," Leo Pelek's parents already knew the type of son they got. Now Pelek is trying to show head coach Warren Powers and the Missouri Tigers what type of football player he is.

"It's kind of hard to believe," said Jones. "It's all happening so fast. I'm glad Tony (Pierce) is going to be there. I'll make it easier having somebody there I know."

Jones credits three areas for his success. "The Select Team program is the main reason I'm going. If Gansler and Chyzowicz hadn't been down here, they wouldn't have seen me. But credit also has to go to Coach Kehoe and Coach Moore. They've taught me a lot."

South splits

GRANITE CITY — Some of John Modica's worries have been put to rest — for the time being.

Early last week, Modica, head baseball coach at Granite City South, knew his Warriors had to change their act or suffer big problems.

Modica probably felt some of the troubles had been resolved when the Warriors captured their third game in a row, a 3-1 victory over Cahokia in the first game of a doubleheader here Monday.

Despite dropping the nightcap 6-1, South won the important contest. Only the opener counted in the Gateway East Conference standing.

Six Flags express bus

The Bi-State Development Agency has begun service on the 1981 Six Flags Express. The bus service will take passengers to and from the Six Flags St. Louis amusement park, Alton, Mo., on Saturdays only.

The Six Flags Express begins at Broadway and Market streets, in downtown St. Louis, and generally follows Interstate 44 to Six Flags, making most local stops, including Crestwood Plaza. Service starts at 7:40 a.m. and continues most of the day to take passengers to the park. Return service begins at 3:15 p.m. and continues until the park closes for the day.

Adult fares on the Six Flags Express are $1.50, or $1 with a transfer or a weekly pass. Children under 13 and elderly and handicapped persons may ride for 50 cents, or 25 cents with a transfer.

For service maps and schedules or further information, Quad-Cityans may call 875-4144.

AIRMAN HUBERT IS ASSIGNED TO LOWRY

Airman Robert J. Hubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hubert of 8 Victoria Drive, Granite City, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing six-week Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field.

Scandinavian tour includes Arctic circle and Lapland

Forty members and a guest, Mrs. Ruth McDonald, attended the March meeting of Travelers Abroad. Mrs. Mary Evangelou, president, conducted a business meeting. The group voted to close its year with the April meeting, since the May meeting would fall on Memorial Day and there would be no access to the meeting room.

Miss Betty Townsend, vice-president in charge of programs, introduced Mrs. Ruth McCarty and Mrs. Barbara Williams, who took the group on a "do-it-yourself trip" through Scandinavia. They presented a narrated slide program from a month-long journey.

Mrs. Williams set the scene for the trip by tracing their movements on a large map of Scandinavia.

She told the group they left the United States with only six advance reservations, a return ticket; a room reservation in Bergen, Norway; a six-day reservation in Norway; a Norwegian coastal steamer; a reservation for a car in Rovaniemi, Finland; a four-day tour reservation into Russia—but without the required visas; and a two-day tour of Denmark.

All the other travel and accommodations arrangements were made as they went along.

The steamer started in Bergen, showing the "bed and breakfast" room that was waiting for them when they landed. Their landlady provided breakfast, and some strange types of cheeses were on the menu. Bergen is a city of 215,000 persons, the second largest in Norway. Its main interest is commerce and seafaring ventures.

The old merchants' houses on the quay were built in 1670. The Fanfott Slave Church is an example of wood that has been treated to almost petrify it. There are no lights in the church except the candles on the altar.

"The reasoning behind this is that we live in darkness until we give our life to Christ and he becomes our light," the travelers were told.

It was noted that many Scandinavian churches have a ship hanging in them to "steady one's course through life toward God."

An unescorted tour in the Bergen area involved travel on a train, a boat, and a bus. On the way to Flam, the train passed through 77 tunnels of varying lengths.

In Flam, the two transferred to a large ferry-cruiser which sailed down the Sognefjord for two hours before making contact with a bus.

The bus negotiated many laybacks in its climb up the mountains to the Stalheim Hotel, a famous resort which is open only during the summer because of its location.

Coastal steamers have been plying the waters between Bergen and Kirkenes, a distance of over 1,200 miles, for 83 years—day and night, winter and summer, war or no war, over half of this distance is north of the Arctic Circle.

Mrs. Williams said they were required to travel second-class since they were getting off in Kirkenes, not making the round trip. They were the only "foreigners" in second-class.

Their four-berth women's cabin was about the size of "two postage stamps." During their trip, they had three different cabinmates—an adult woman, a high school senior, and a 12-year-old girl. Both of the students had studied English and communication was good.

The coastal steamers are working boats—they carry passengers, mail, freight, food, and anything that needs to be transported.

For many small villages, the steamer is their only link to civilization. The steamer can sleep 178 people but can carry 525 persons.

At night, persons in sleeping bags fill all available space—in the lounges, along the corridors, and on the top deck. One day the group cautiously at bedtime, it was noted.

First-class passengers can take a number of planned excursions off the steamer at various locations. Mrs. McCarty and Mrs. Williams took these excursions also.

The first excursion left the steamer at Alesund, where a bus met them for sight-seeing. They were then taken overland to Kristiansund for dinner at the Grand Hotel. After the dinner, they rejoined the steamer as it docked to unload freight.

The second excursion occurred at Trondheim, the largest city in Norway. The group went to the Ringve Museum of Music, which featured individual rooms of musical treasures each related to a different musician.

The two travelers left the group at the museum, had a taxi called, and proceeded to the Nidaros Cathedral, national shrine of Norway. All Norwegian kings are crowned there and the majority are buried there.

Many paintings and stained glassworks in the cathedral depicted the religious history of the country.

A cooperative taxi driver waited for them and whisked them back to the railway station to get special cards and then to the dock in time for them to rejoin the steamer.

Bodo, a city of 28,000, provided the next opportunity for a shore leave. It was about noon. There was a layover of about two hours, and passengers were free to leave or stay on the ship.

One of the delights of Bodo was a sandwich that was "almost a hamburger," eaten in a gazebo on a shopping mall street.

Bodo's new cathedral has a detached tower that was dedicated in 1956 to the persons who withstood the destruction of their town during World War II.

Mrs. McCarty and Mrs. Williams were on the steamer on the longest day of the year and were in the "land of the midnight sun."

At midnight, most of the "foreign" passengers were on the top deck, taking pictures without any extra lighting.

The scenes showed how the steamer passed varying heights of islands. The sun did not set that night.

Tromsø, with a population of 37,000, was the next planned excursion. After viewing the city, the group went to the church nicknamed "The Arctic Cathedral," built to resemble an iceberg.

Erected in 1965, it contains the largest stained glass window in Northern Europe. Tromsø was the capital of Free Norway until June 1940, when the king and the government were forced to flee.

Many Arctic expeditions depart from this port. The world's northernmost university is located there, the speakers said.

The next excursion was a trip to the North Cape, once a place for exiles, vagrants, and imprisoned persons sent to work in the fisheries.

This was a desolate area, and two or three encampments of nomadic Laplanders were viewed. Herds of reindeer are pastured in this area.

One of the features of the North Cape is the opportunity to get a special stamp on postcards mailed at this northern point. The steamer did not set there from May 14 until July 30; there are 1,400 hours of continuous sun.

Mrs. McCarty and Mrs. Williams left the steamer at Kirkenes, home of the Syd-Varanger Co., Norway's largest mining company.

An invisible barrier exists there, since Kirkenes is only six miles from the Russian border. No field glasses or cameras are allowed near the border.

A "milk" bus ride involving ten hours of travel and three buses, but covering only 150 miles, was next on the trip.

After spending the night in a summer hotel—a student dormitory in the winter—in Ivalo, Finland, the two ladies made a decision. They could travel six hours on another bus or fly for 35 minutes to reach their next destination.

The plane won and the two soon were in Rovaniemi, Finland, the capital of Lapland.

They obtained a car and started a 600-mile trip toward Helsinki. Rovaniemi was one of the many Norwegian cities that was almost fully destroyed by retreating Germans in World War II.

Mrs. Williams said they drove to a church and cemetery. The cemetery was divided into two sections. At one end was a large monument for servicemen killed, and there were 12 sections of 50 graves each.

The other end of the cemetery had a large monument showing four persons, representing different age groups. On the base of the monument were several hundred names and birthdates. All of these persons were buried in one large common grave.

Six miles from Rovaniemi is the Arctic Circle information center and marker. The post office is a bus place here.

As the ladies drove south, they encountered no problems. Everywhere they stopped, there was someone who could speak English.

The littala crystal plant was toured and souvenirs were purchased.

The Hatulla Church, one of the oldest churches in Finland, was visited. This church is presently being restored, and walls which have been covered with whitewash for several centuries are being cleaned to reveal beautiful frescoes.

Aulanko, a hotel and sports center in a national forest, provided luxurious accommodations. Near Aulanko was the city of Haapavesi, birthplace of Sibelius.

Helsinki presented no challenge to the ladies and their car despite the extremely wide thoroughfares. They found the railway depot, where they reserved a summer hotel room. After locating the hotel and depositing their luggage and packages, they located the rental agency and dropped off the car.

While in Helsinki, besides the usual tours, shopping and strolling on the Esplanade—and joining residents at the marketplace to eat fresh strawberries—the two ladies attended one night of the World Games in the Olympic Stadium.

They found that a Finnish hot dog is different from the American one—there is no bun in Finland, just hot dog. Everyone traveling abroad is told to take care of his passport; with this in mind, the ladies visited the tour agency through which they had booked a trip into Leningrad.

In order to get the required visas, they turned in their passports; they did not see them again for four days until they started for Leningrad.

Returning from Leningrad, the ladies flew to Copenhagen for several days and back to St. Louis.

Feder Huber Going Out Of Business?

ARE YOU KIDDING?

Some of you out there got the wrong impression from our advertising last month. There was some talk that we were going out of business — NO WAY! We were simply running our annual winter clearance. It was big, the selection and savings were fantastic, and we have hundreds of satisfied customers to attest to this. OUR STRONG ADVERTISING WILL CONTINUE thru-out the year, AS WE CONTINUE TO GROW! Residents of our area are finding out that we offer the best in selection and prices; Levitt's, Wickes, and Crossroads can't touch our independence in pricing and merchandising. (Some of them have sent their people here in attempt to find out what we're up to, and we consider that a compliment!)

We are from the school of thought that if you've got something good — shout it out! That's what we did, and we will continue to do. Feder Huber going out of business? Not when you've Doubled Sales in the last year! The Clearance Sale IS OVER . . . But There's Always Something Going On at Feder Huber!

ONE YEAR — NO FINANCE CHARGE
Not only great prices but one year to pay with no finance charge. Just take your cash balance and divide it into twelve equal low payments! Extra Savings . . .

GC, Pontoon dig out after tornado rips area

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

The banging of hammers, the raspy buzz of circular saws and the loud roars of chain saws. These were the sounds of people trying to put their lives back together after a tornado ripped through their homes Friday night.

According to a fire department tally, 102 homes were damaged in Granite City, including 13 which were destroyed, 21 area persons required medical treatment and six were admitted to the medical center. Amazingly, and thankfully, there were no deaths.

Disaster aid is being provided by the National Red Cross from the Salvation Army building, 3007 E. 23rd St. Persons in need of food, clothing, housing or other items should register today, a spokesman said.

The city's tornado warning sirens sounded at 10:58 p.m. Friday, moments before the "small tornado," as the National Weather Service has termed it, first hit, spinning cars, snapping utility poles and bringing down power lines at East 23rd Street and Nameoki Road.

Then its deadly tail lifted and did not set down again until it reached the

102 GC homes damaged, including 13 destroyed southeastern corner of the city where it wreaked destruction on residents of Terminal, Cardinal, National, Saratoga and Della avenues and Maryville Road. At least four homes were literally ripped apart by the force and pieces of wood, insulation and roofing were thrown hundreds of feet. Other homes sustained damages which appeared like the bite of some gigantic beast, ripping away a corner of the house, leaving nick-nacks in perfect order on shelves only feet away from the destruction.

The end and part of the roof of one home suddenly disappeared, leaving a baby crib undisturbed inside the suddenly wide-open room.

After the few moments of terror, the tornado continued toward the northeast, through the Steelcrest Subdivision and then touching down in Pontoon Beach where debris was thrown through windows of the Gaslight Walk Apartments, injuring at least one woman.

It then dipped into the Village Green Mobile Home Park on Lake Five, causing extensive damage to four mobile homes and lesser damage to five others. One trailer was picked up, turned over and dropped onto a neighbor's trailer, injuring Betty Becker, 39, of lot 150, whose home overturned.

Another woman, whose mobile home escaped damage, said she was not frightened until she looked out a window and saw a neighbor's mobile home "suspended in the air."

Jerry Mott Jr., whose mobile home at 3936 Lake Drive, was on the bank of Long Lake, escaped injury when winds lifted his trailer, turned it over and dumped it into the lake. He had to break a window to escape and swim to shore.

The tornado then continued its path of destruction, damaging 17 mobile homes

TORNADO AFTERMATH. Damaged and destroyed homes, mobile homes and vehicles in a drive between Granite City and Pontoon Beach Saturday were vivid evidence to the violence of a tornado which swept through the area Friday night. The mobile home of Betty Becker, lot 150 of Village Green Mobile Home Park, was lifted in the air and overturned on the mobile home of Donald Holman, lot 151. Additional photos of the tornado's damage appear on Page 25 in this issue.

Man adopted as child finds family in GC

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Saturday, March 28, was a very important day in the life of Arthur John Lindhorst of Cahokia.

On that day, Lindhorst found out for the first time he had been adopted 31 years ago as a young child by his now deceased parents.

To suddenly acquire this knowledge alone was a traumatic experience and made the day a landmark in his life.

But a second factor emerged that day which overshadowed to a great degree the distressing revelation and caused March 28, 1981, to become even more memorable for Arthur John Lindhorst.

In the space of a few hours after discovering he was adopted, the Cahokia man found he had a family of 10 brothers and sisters, plus numerous nephews and nieces, and a real mother, most of whom live in Granite City.

"I'm just happy to be back," he commented Tuesday about his new family status.

Lindhorst's adoption as a 3-year-old child was revealed when he received through the mail several documents from his former wife, now living in Sullivan, Mo.

The documents included birth certificates, legal adoption papers and change of name for one—Arthur Clayton Hubert.

In a letter accompanying the papers, the former wife said she had been sworn to secrecy by Mr. and Mrs. Fred (Beatrice) Lindhorst not to reveal the information about the adoption until two years after the death of both.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindhorst, who had resided in the East St. Louis and Cahokia area most of their lives, died two years ago, within five months of each other.

The former wife had held the papers in trust for about two years.

The documents disclosed that Lindhorst was born Oct. 9, 1945, to a Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Elsie) Hubert, then living in the 2900 block of West 22nd Street in Granite City.

According to family members here, Lindhorst talked over this startling information with a friend who asked, "Why don't we go to Granite City today and see if you have any family there?"

Lindhorst, accompanied by his friend, went to the address on West 22nd Street where his parents lived at the time of his birth, as noted in the papers. They talked to neighbors and found one resident who remembered the family and also recalled Arthur being born.

She also knew the name of a sister of Lindhorst's and arranged for the two to meet.

The first member of his long lost family to see Arthur John Lindhorst last Saturday was Mrs. Mildred Walker of Granite City.

Mrs. Walker quickly ascertained that Arthur John Lindhorst indeed was the family's baby brother—Arthur Clayton Hubert—and alerted other family members.

"We were overwhelmed. All of us were, and very happy," said Mrs. Doris Lindry of Pontoon Beach, a half-sister of Lindhorst's. "After all, Arthur was the baby of the family."

"We've told him that we have never forgotten him in our thoughts."

"When his father died (Frank Hubert) in 1967 we put Arthur's name in the paper as a son, although we didn't know where he was at that time, nor his new name," she said.

Mrs. Lindry and others had tried contacting a family in the Edgemoor-

East St. Louis area some years ago in an effort to find their youngest brother, but met with no success.

Part of the problem in trying to trace the boy may have come about because Arthur's adoptive parents changed his middle name, in addition to his surname, and were very secretive, a family member speculated.

"They really wanted to keep it (adoption) a secret," Mrs. Lindry said. Lindhorst's mother, Mrs. Elsie Quinlan, has remarried and resides on the Pontoon Beach area.

Now 35 years old, Lindhorst found out last week that he has two brothers in Granite City, Melvin Hubert, 43, and Robert Hubert, 39.

He also rediscovered two sisters living here, Mrs. Shirley Heath and Mrs. Ardella Darr.

Mrs. Lindry and Mrs. Walker are half-sisters.

A half-brother, Walter Williams, lives in Livingston, Ill., and another half-brother, William Shaw, resides in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Another brother, George Hubert, died at age 17 while serving in the U.S. Air Force, he has been told.

Lindhorst was in the United States Marine Corps for six years, serving in Vietnam during the 1960s, the Press-Record learned.

Presently, he is employed by the Pillsbury Company in the firm's barge loading area at St. Louis.

(11 destroyed) in the Edwardsville Estates Mobile Home Court west of Interstate 270 and Route 157 before moving into downtown Edwardsville.

There was extensive damage in Edwardsville with numerous homes and businesses leveled and damage estimated at $3 million to $5 million. Rooftop heating and air conditioning units on top of the new Madison County Jail were lifted from the roof, damaging the roof. The extent of damages to the county courthouse is yet to be determined, but surrounding businesses were heavily damaged.

Electrical power to much of Granite City was interrupted the moment the twister touched down.

Finally, it was silent, except for a light rain.

The silence did not last long as the sirens of emergency vehicles soon filled the night. All available policemen, firemen, ambulance personnel, street department and auxiliary policemen were summoned to the scene. The Illinois State Police and Venice police also sent men to help. Illinois Power crews responded.

Afraid of looters, Granite City police closed off the 12-block area bounded by Maryland Road and St. Clair, Edgewood and Terminal avenues. All off-duty policemen were called in at midnight to assist at the scene and they worked throughout the night.

There were numerous natural gas leaks in the damaged homes, so police alerted all homeowners to turn off the gas to their houses. Fortunately, no major fires broke out.

The grim task of cleaning up the mess began immediately. The streets were cleared by street department high lifts and the residents attempted to patch the roofs of their homes, close holes in the walls and start rebuilding their interrupted lives.

For one man, there was no reason to hope. The entire roof of his home had been blown off, his pickup truck and camper shell had been turned over in the street and all he could do was try to save as many belongings from the house as possible. During rest periods, he sat in a lawn chair in his front yard and cried.

Police were strained, attempting to secure the damaged areas of the city, to open streets for emergency vehicles and to respond to the numerous business burglar alarms set off by the high winds which accompanied the tornado. Alarms sounded from 10:54 p.m. through 11:13 p.m. at 13 businesses, churches and schools. All turned out to be false alarms.

Electrical power to most homes was restored by Illinois Power crews within two hours of the outage, but power to the heavily-damaged area was out all night. Emergency lights were supplied by C.D. Peters Construction Co. and Granite City Steel to aid the workers and homeowners, during the night.

The emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center became a beehive of activity as city ambulances brought in those who had been injured by the storm.

Among those admitted were Lorene Boner, 60, of 53 Kaseberg Lane, Pontoon Beach, who said she stepped out onto her porch only to find out it wasn't there and she fell, hurting her left foot and ankle and ribs; Betty Becker, 39, of Village Green Mobile Home Park, whose home was demolished and she suffered injuries to her head, right foot and right hand; Billy Lenzi, 7, of 42 Steelecrest Lane, who suffered a cut to the top of his head.

Also, Alta Lenke, 57, of Belleville, who was in a mobile home here, fell from the porch and the home fell on her left leg; Regina Benson, 20, of 4060 Kathy Drive, Pontoon Beach, who suffered a right knee cut to her right ankle from flying debris, and Daniel Monroe Sr., 41, of 2324 Cardinal Ave., who fell down the basement steps during the twister and injured his lower back and chest.

Of those treated and released, their injuries could have been much more serious. For example, Robin Keel, 12, of 2407 Cardinal Ave., was struck in the back by her home's furnace. Brenda Rains, 39, of 3008 Mockingbird Lane, who had glass in both eyes, and her daughter, Carrie Palmer, 15, who had glass in her right eye; Joy Hallberg, Edwardsville Estates, who suffered injuries to her left shoulder, wrist and neck when a bed fell on her, and Mary Havron, 2341 Delta Ave., whose right foot was injured when a wall of her house blew down on it.

Others hurt by the wind and flying debris included Joyce Adams, 42, of Edwardsville Estates, Raymond McGee, 38, of 2200 Cardinal Ave., Edward Zarr, 22, of 4660 Kathy Drive, Edgar Dietrich, 71, of 2730 Lincoln Ave., Carol Cruse, 4, of 2820 Saratoga Ave., Joseph Ehrlich, 38, of 2808 National Ave., and Joyce Adams of Edwardsville Estates. All were released after treatment.

In the cleanup effort, three persons stepped on nails and required treatment and tetanus shots in the emergency room. They were Harold Smith, 16, of 2403 Delta Ave., Alan Lenzi of 42 Steelecrest Lane, and Gary Snowden, 2900 Maryville Road.

No estimates of the damage have been prepared, but it could easily exceed the $1 million mark in Granite City alone.

At the request of the Tri-City Chapter, the American Red Cross has dispatched several workers to register tornado victims and help them find food, clothing and shelter. Registration began at 10 a.m. today in the Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

"We are working on a case-by-case basis, trying to meet each family's emergency needs," a spokesman said.

The National Weather Service said it concluded Saturday that it was a severe storm which damaged parts of Florissant, St. Louis, Franklin and Jefferson Counties in Missouri and Lambert-St. Louis International Airport with winds measured at 90 miles-per-hour, but the storm turned into a small tornado which reached Granite City and continued into Edwardsville.

The precise reason for Lindhorst's adoption was not explained, but the legal transfer of custody occurred when there were 10 children of widely varying age levels in the family, it was learned.

Lindhorst, who is divorced, has five children.

"So we have five new nephews and nieces," Mrs. Melvin (Gwen) Hubert said Tuesday.

Mrs. Lundry said her brother has told the family the Lindhorsts were "very nice people, who gave him all the love and attention he needed as a youngster growing up."

"Arthur must have been a sickly child, from things he has said, but they cared for him deeply and apparently they couldn't give him up even when he was grown," she said.

Coincidentally, Lindhorst's life abounds with events involving Granite City.

"Just a few days ago, he was helping someone down the street from us do some plumbing work and he didn't know we existed," commented Mrs. Melvin (Gwen) Hubert, who lives on Briarwood Drive.

"When Arthur was younger he often came to the YMCA here to swim. He even married a girl from Granite City who formerly worked at Dags and Sids (Erva's) on Pontoon Road," his new sister-in-law said.

"He looks just like Melvin (her husband), only younger," Mrs. Hubert added.

"We've been busy showing Arthur his baby pictures," Mrs. Lundry said.

"At various times, such as when his own children were born, he had asked his adoptive parents about photographs of himself when a baby."

"Arthur said they always replied 'there were none' and dropped the subject immediately," Mrs. Lundry said.

There's a lot of catching up to do in the Hubert family and everyone is very excited.

"I'm just glad to be back," Arthur said emphatically.

New SIUE gym bids within budget

New bids for construction of a permanent multipurpose physical education, recreation and athletics facility at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were opened in Springfield, Thursday by the Illinois Capital Development Board (CDB).

Eldon Bigham, SIUE athletic director, said the low base bids totaled $8,498,106, or more than half-million dollars below the available project construction budget of $10 million.

With alternates totaling $538,620, the low bids totaled $9,064,726.

The bids will be reviewed by Buck Estridge, project manager for the CDB, with the project architects and the SIUE board to determine if the proposals meet all required specifications. If the review is favorable and approvals are given, contracts will be awarded in two to three weeks.

The low bidders were: General-Azzarelli Construction Co., Kankakee, $6,224,278; plumbing-Kane Plumbing & Heating Co., Wood River, $748,000; heating-Kane, $571,755.

Ventilation-France Plumbing & Heating Co., Edwardsville, $558,880; electrical-UDE Inc., St. Louis, $700,000; sprinkler system-Bi-State Co., Fenton, Mo., $120,521; Building automation system and temperature controls-Johnson Controls, St. Louis, $251,324; equipment, elevators, etc.-Redbird School Consultants and Paddock Enterprises, St. Louis, $251,348.

Initial bids were opened Dec. 19 and totaled nearly $2.5 million over the authorized budget.

Discussions were held with the architects, resulting in structural and design modifications. Bigham said the modifications will not reduce or eliminate the major program goals for the building.

Steelers explode

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — Bob Stegemeier is pleasantly surprised.
Stegemeier, the head baseball coach at Granite City North, didn't know what to expect going into this season. After all, most of the team that compiled outstanding records over the last three seasons, advanced to the Class AA Elite Eight in 1979 and was one of the tops in the state last season, was gone. Lost to graduation.
But so far, the Steelers have responded very well, thank you.

Thursday, North pounded out 11 hits and routed Gateway East rival Edwardsville, a state semifinalist last season, 12-5.
"I didn't expect to get 12 runs," said Stegemeier. "In all but one of our games, we've only scored one or two runs."
That exception was an 18-16 nail-biting victory last Saturday over Hazelwood East.

"We hit in streaks," mused Stegemeier. "We did it this time" against Edwardsville's number two hitter, though.
The Steelers racked Tiger starter John Mosley for six runs in the first two innings, including a five-run barrage in the opening frame that for all intents and purposes ended the matter.
North added four more runs in the third inning to take a 10-0 lead. Stegemeier began substituting in the fourth. Edwardsville got two runs in the fifth, one in the sixth and two more in the bottom of the seventh.
North's Paul Barrington was impressive on the mound. He started and worked six innings before tiring. "Paul pitched a fine game," said Stegemeier. "The pitching has probably been the biggest surprise to me so far."

But North's defense has begun to shine too. "When you only get one strike out and still hold a team to one run (as was the case Monday against Belleville Althoff), your defense has got to be playing well," Stegemeier said.
At the plate, North's day was highlighted by a grand slam home run by Dan Patterson.

Trojan girls win

DUPLO — Madison's girls track team won its first dual meet of the season here over Duplo 60-43. And at times, it was a lonely experience.
Madison has had trouble with fielding a complete squad this season. But Duplo is on worse shape. The Tigers weren't able to enter runners in several events — Madison's runners ran the events by themselves. The times suffered, but the result was pleasing to Trojanette coach Lavenia Long.
Madison was only able to bring seven athletes to the meet.

Madison's 400 meter relay squad won in a time of 54.5. Runners were Rose Clay, Jerri Ann Ware, Abigail Heard and Terri Smith.

The Trojanettes also won the 800 meter medley. Clay, Heard, Smith and Ware had an easy time of it. Duplo didn't enter a squad. Their time was 2:22.

Jerri Ann Ware of Madison won the 100 meter dash in a time of 13.5 seconds. Mia Williams of Madison was second in 14.7.

Yolanda Boyd of Madison was the winner of the 800 meter run in 3:25. Duplo's Susan Brooks was second in 3:45.

Clay, Ware, Heard and Smith won the 800 relay in 1:55.46.

Dupo got a one-two finish in the 100 low hurdles. Shari Brandon was first in 19.6 and Lila Bertram was second in 19.7. Madison's Heard, in her first hurdles race ever, was third in 21.8.

South takes two from Belleville

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — John Modica had a chance to smile a bit here Saturday afternoon.

Modica, the first-year coach of the Granite City South baseball team, had worried about consistency during his team's first seven ball games of the season. But in his team's doubleheader sweep of Belleville West, Modica saw enough consistency. The Warriors bumped off the Maroons 9-6 in the first game and held on to win the second game 6-5.

"We hadn't been consistent," Modica said. "We'd get a big lead and then lose the game. But this time, we put it together."

GAME ONE
South broke open a close game in the first contest with a seven-run scoring outburst in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The big firepower for the Warriors in the first game came off the bat of David Modicus. He was two-for-two at the plate, had double and three runs batted in. "He had a good day for us," said Modica. "But we got good efforts from everybody. We finally got the right mix of hitting, pitching and defense."

West had scored in the top of the third inning to take a brief lead. Before the Warriors came back in the bottom of the same frame to tie it.

Belleville West held a 3-2 lead over South heading into the bottom of the sixth. That's when the Warriors took control of things.

West's Maroons managed to plate three more runs across in the top of the seventh, but it wasn't enough.

South's Darryl Harris got the win in the opener — despite pitching to only two batters in the sixth inning. Randy Camp came in on relief to finish off the Maroons. Steve Manka started on the mound for the Warriors.

GAME TWO
In the second game, West's Maroons again took the early lead. They scored a run in the top of the first inning. But back came the Warriors.

South scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning and put across two more in the bottom of the second frame to take a 5-1 lead. Rick Daily did it all in game two. Both at the plate and on the pitcher's mound, he was two-for-three at the plate with a pair of triples and had three runs batted in. He pitched three and a third innings, gave up one run, seven hits struck out seven and walked one.

But Daily wasn't the whole story for the Warriors in the second game. John Linhart was two-for-four with an RBI. Ken Wilson was three-for-three with a double and an RBI.

Sweeping the pair of games from West was just what the Warriors needed according to Modica. "We really needed these wins," he said. "We had to get the right mix of pitching, defense and hitting together, and losing leads. We're going to be in a lot of close ball games this season, and everything has to be just right to win the close ones."

"I don't pay that much attention to that kind of stuff," Modica said, referring to West's perfect record going into the doubleheader. "If we play good, solid ball, we'll be all right."

Having had a little over two weeks to look at his team in actual game conditions, how does Modica think things are stacking up? "It's still too early," he said. "We really don't have the pitching rotation down yet."

How about Modica himself? How's he faring in his first year at the South helm? "It's a lot of work," he said. "I'm tired and I'm losing weight."

Hole-in-one scored

EDWARDSVILLE — Granite Cityan Bob Maddox made the second hole-in-one of his 40-year golf career here March 24 at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Maddox scored the ace on the 175-yard number eight hole with a 4-iron. His first hole-in-one came in 1957. The first hole-in-one of the year at Sunset Hills, it was witnessed by Lee West, Charlie Bianki, Ernie Karandjeff and John Parker.

It was a nice going away present for Maddox, a lifelong resident of Granite City who will soon be moving to Fort Collins, Colo.

Triad whips Madison

By JIM CAGLE
for the Press-Record
ST. JACOB — The Triad Knights combined two solid pitching performances with plenty of offensive firepower and swept a doubleheader from Madison's Trojans here Saturday, 8-2 and 10-1.

Madison dropped to 0-7, while the Knights' record stands at 4-2.

"No hitting," said Madison coach John Paskus. "We haven't hit in seven games. I wish I could tell you more, but I can't. I'm dumb-founded."

Paskus' description of the games was accurate. Triad pitching allowed the Trojans only five hits in the 14 innings played.

Lamon Buehrer got the win in the opener for Triad. The rightlander went five and two-thirds innings in his second outing of the season. He struck out eight, walked six and gave up only one hit.

Tom Ladd came on for the Knights in game number two and smoked Madison's chances for a split.

The right-handed fireballer had 11 strike outs in five and one-third innings. He walked four and allowed three hits.

The Knights' Dave Lambert relieved in both games. His combined effort in three innings was five strike outs and one walk. He allowed one hit.

Once again, Mike Jacobi provided the big bat for Triad. He went three-for-three in the first game and two-for-three in the second.

Jacobi drove in five runs, hit his second home run of the season and had three doubles. He's batting .667 and has eight RBI.

GAME ONE
Triad got on the board first when Buehrer and Lambert both singled in the bottom of the first inning. Buehrer scored on Jacobi's double off Trojan starter George Wallace. Lambert came home on Bob Leos' infield out.

Madison pulled two within one run in the third. Wallace reached on an error and later scored on a wild pitch.

The Trojans still didn't have a hit in the game.

Triad got the run back in the third when Lambert scored on Jacobi's second RBI double. Madison could manage only one more run.

Jeff Niehaus drove Wallace home in the fifth inning with Madison's first run.

Madison's first run in the fifth and one in the sixth.

GAME TWO
Triad once again wasted little time getting in front. Lambert walked with two out and scored when Jacobi's single skipped past the right fielder. Jacobi also scored on the play giving the Knights a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

The Trojans scored their only run in the fourth inning when centerfielder Ken Briggs reached on a fielder's choice, advanced on an error and scored on a wild pitch.

Venice joins new Illini Gateway loop

EDWARDSVILLE — The second organizational meeting of Metro-East newest athletic conference was held last week at Metro-East Lutheran High in Edwardsville.

Highlights of the meeting include the attendance of two additional potential members, Worden Public High and Venice High. These two will join St. Paul of Highland, St. Henry of Belleville, Livingston, and Metro-East Lutheran.

Also, the naming of the league was decided, Illini Gateway Conference being chosen over some dozen other possibilities.

Of the six potential members, five appear to be committed for certain. Only Worden is pending because of its prior conference affiliation with the Egyptian Illini. Additionally, Alton Marquette may join, pending its review of the conference's constitution and by-laws. A committee to draft and present the constitution will meet Monday, April 13 and all conference officials will meet Monday, April 27 to finalize proposals and matters of implementation.

If all goes as planned, a conference girls volleyball tournament to be held next fall will be the first sport contested in the new league. Basketball will begin on an abbreviated note, league members will meet each other only once in 1981-1982, and the spring sports of boys baseball and girls softball will both have full conference participation.

Trojans fall short at Dupu

DUPU — The Madias High boys track team ran out of bodies and points Tuesday and dropped dual meet to Dupu 79-67.

Because Trojan mainstay Ray Price and Tyrone Branch were absent with injuries, Madison head coach Charles Steptoe was forced to maneuver some runners around to different events.

It didn't work. The critical point was the 200 meter run. As expected, Madison's Richard Borney won it (in a time of 23.34). But Trojan Charles Fuller who had been pulled from the mile relay team, Steptoe in an effort to get second place in the 200 meter, finished third. Dupu's Tom Johnson had a second place time of 23.6 seconds. Fuller was third in 24.5.

"That was my biggest bone of contention," said Steptoe. "We needed a second at that point, if we had gotten it, we would have tied it."

Dupo was eight points ahead of the Trojans going into the 200 meter run. A second in that event and a victory in the mile relay (the last event of the meet) and Madison could pull it out. But Dupo was able to beat the Trojans in the mile relay. Ever if Fuller had been able to finish second in the 200, his team would have lost the meet by two points.

In the mile relay, Dupo had a winning time of 3:45.1. Madison was 3:49.1.

"We just ran out of people at the end," said Steptoe. "We had a chance to win it with Fuller in there (the mile relay). But a loss is a loss."

Madison won the 400 meter relay. Fuller, Darnell Dixon, Shawn Brown and Richard Borney ran it in a time of 45.6. The Trojans also won the 800 meter relay. The squad of Fuller, Tyrone Manzy, Brown and Bernard Harper had a time of 1:28.8.

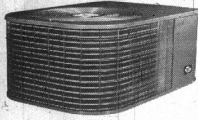

Borney of Madison was a bright spot for his team. He had three firsts and anchored the winning 400 meter relay team. He won the 100 yard dash in 11.2 seconds. Fuller was third in 11.5. Borney also was first in the 400 meter run with a time of 52.47. Madison's Greg Waters was third in 62.0.

Dixon of Madison had two firsts. He won the 300 meter low hurdles in 52.47 and the triple jump with a leap of 40 feet, 4 inches. He was second in the long jump at 18 feet, 3 inches. Trojan Elmer Collins was third in the triple jump at 36-5.

Madison's Bernard Harper was the winner of the shot put with a throw of 12.55 meters. John Latham was second with a distance of 12.35 meters.

Madison won the high jump with a leap of 5 feet, 10 inches. George Leonard of Madison was second in the 300 meter run in a time of 2:23. Latham was second in the discus with a throw of 35.25 meters. Harper was second in the pole vault with a height of 2.59 meters.

University credits for GC high school pupils

The Advanced Placement program for college credit will be added in 1981-82 to the services offered in the Granite City community unit school district.

Advanced Placement designation will be given to those courses that meet the P criteria and that require a basic change in the curriculum, it has been explained by Supt. B. J. Davis and Curriculum Coordinator Warren Collins. AP is administered by the College Board, a non-profit organization.

"The program can provide relatively inexpensive opportunity for gifted high school students to save money," Collins noted.

"By participating in this national program, we can offer students college-level courses that are taught by our own staff. We are currently doing this in several areas already, but our students do not receive college credit.

"Through earning college credit while still in high school, students can save time and money—as much as the cost of an entire year of college. In 1975, a North High student took the AP exam in chemistry, one subject only, and received eight semester hours of credit at Washington University.

"This would translate into one-third of a year of credit or in excess of $2,500 in today's costs at Washington U. It was accomplished despite the fact that we do not have any courses designated as AP classes at present.

"The program has been in existence for 27 years, and over 20 percent of all high schools in the nation offer AP courses. Nearly 1,700 colleges and universities award course credit, advanced placement, or both to high school students who have earned better than average grades on AP examinations.

"Each school in the AP program develops its courses according to its local resources and student needs. We currently have several accelerated courses that not only meet these standards, but would require no curriculum changes.

"We have other courses that we need only slight modification in the curriculum.

"Students enrolled in an AP course would not be required to take the AP exam, but it would generally be to their advantage to do so. A student has complete control over the transmission of his or her grade to any college or university.

"At a student's choice, he or she may elect to take an AP exam whether or not we have a designated AP course. But a transcript reflecting enrollment in such a course can mean preferential admission to many colleges, so we will designate those courses that meet the standards."

Good news, bad news on state health front

SPRINGFIELD — As the Illinois Department of Public Health sees it, there's been some good news and some bad news on the health front this year.

The good news doesn't directly reflect health, except perhaps for the health of the morose and the wallets of the citizenry — it was, or has been so far, an unusually mild winter with no prolonged periods of deep snows or bitter cold.

The bad news is that because it was so compartively nice all winter, there was a lot more flu in Illinois than was reported the two previous years.

While the flu season, like winter, isn't officially over yet, the department finds that cases usually begin tapering off about now. The season is considered officially over about mid-April.

This year, says department spokesperson Mary Luck, the mild weather combined with the appearance of a new flu strain in the state, combined to put a lot more people than usual under the weather. Because the strain

Nameoki officials find revenue sharing requests exceed funds

It would take some magic if Nameoki Township officials to please everyone when it comes to the distribution of federal revenue sharing funds in the new fiscal year, the board of trustees discovered during a public hearing on the matter last Tuesday night.

"The township has $20,000 remaining unspent in that fund and anticipates receiving about $45,000 during the year, making a total of about $65,000 available for projects."

However, the projects recommended at the public hearing far surpass that amount. The largest single recommendation is to continue the present environmental cleanup (limb and large trash pickup) and health programs, which would cost about $30,000 to continue at their present levels.

Other requests include $8,500 in financial assistance for the Nameoki Volunteer Police, about $4,500 to continue financial backing for ambulance service in the township and continued funding for the senior citizens' van, including picking up the salary of the driver when manpower falls that funding. Most are considered important if the present level of township services is to continue.

New projects requesting funds include the extension of city water mains to Eagle Park Acres, an engineering study for an addition to the State Park Place fire house, a $3,000 study of Eagle Park which is needed to apply for grants, a street sweeper, new street signs for Arlington Heights and new photocopy and stamp machines badly needed in the township hall.

It is apparent that $64,500 will fall far short of meeting all of the requests and the town board faces the difficult task in the next few weeks of deciding which are the priority items and which will just have to wait until next year.

It was noted that 11 senior citizens in the audience were able to attend the meeting because the township was which is supported by revenue sharing funds, picked them up at their homes and returned them home after the meeting.

World recognition for Dave Lindsay

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
It's a long way from the 'adders springboard diving team to an 80 miles an hour, 60-foot-high plunge from the platform handstand, but Dave Lindsay, 24, has made his journey all the way to the national high-diving championship.

A 1976 GCHS North graduate, a former wrestler and gymnast, an Eastern Illinois University (Charleston) springboard living team member, and now high-diving coach at Daytona Beach (Fla.) Community College, Lindsay will be featured on ABC-TV's Wide World of Sports channel 2 at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Extensive network coverage is planned that day and later, televising the 1981 worldwide championship competition held during the last weekend in San Diego, Calif.

Events included a height record contest, with dives of as much as 160 feet.

The former local resident, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. (Helen) Lindsay, 3308 Maryville Road, competed in basic diving skills at heights of 70, 90 and 100 feet and also joined with Patty Davis in mixed pair simultaneous diving, finishing second in that category of the world judging. His parents were among those present to cheer him on.

His initial partner, Ann Thompson, was injured during one of the dives at Sea World in San Diego. Even with a jet of water utilized to make the water more visible and the surface perhaps a bit softer to penetrate, the salt water pool proved to be a difficult diving target, and there were numerous injuries during the week.

To become champion, Lindsay outscored such widely known contenders as Chip Humphrey (second), Pat Suter (third) and defending champion Dana Kunze (fifth).

Kunze, a four-time champ, and the others are all veterans of the world dive at Acapulco, Mexico. The former Granite Citytan has not yet taken part in the Acapulco event but plans to do so in the near future.

A "natural talent" who progressed all the way to the world title in record time,

DAVE LINDSAY

Lindsay has been high-diving only since the summer of 1979, when he participated at Sea World in Orlando, Fla. He spent the summer of 1980 performing exhibition dives at Adventure Land in Des Moines, Ia. Next for him will be appearances for the Maxwell diving team in the U. S., Mexico, Europe and perhaps as far away as Hong Kong; included will be a return visit to Des Moines on April 24. He plans to take a leave of absence from his duties at Daytona Beach.

Initially instructed in diving at the Paddlers pool here by Mrs. Gayle McCormick, herself a top-notch diver until sustaining an injury, Lindsay had leaped from no greater height than 30 feet until he filled in for a friend one day at Orlando.

He shows little or no fear of descending from heights that make the pool appear miniature in size, but does concede that he has a healthy respect for the perils involved.

He has performed such feats as diving amid flames, but has not yet seen fit to try for any height records, at least those that exceed 160 feet.

A highlight of his new celebrity status occurred early this week at the award dinner, where he received a plaque symbolic of the world championship.

In addition to that bit of limelight, he also has taken interviews with TV network sportscasters and has demonstrated his diving techniques for ABC-TV.

Still more challenges and opportunities will be encountered in the coming months and years, and he is awaiting them eagerly.

But he is not planning to do much practicing of the high-diving art, because there simply are few platforms in existence, and they are in place only a limited number of days each year.

Graduate award to GC student

The Graduate School of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced recipients of the 1981-82 academic year Competitive Graduate Awards, according to Floyd Coleman, assistant dean of the school. The 29 include Marvin Storer of Granite City.

The award is intended to recognize and encourage students who have shown outstanding potential as revealed through past academic records, letters of recommendation, and other evidence of outstanding achievements. The award carries with it a stipend of $400 per month and a remission of tuition and some fees for the nine-month academic year beginning in September.

Schermmer on presidential search committee at BAC

The screening committee for the presidential search at Belleville Area College will include three members of the board of trustees, two faculty members, one student, two citizens from the district, one staff member, and one administrator.

The make-up of the committee was unanimously approved at a special meeting of the BAC Board last week.

However, only the three board members were appointed to the slots at the meeting. Others are expected to be appointed at a special meeting called for April 8.

John "Jack" Becker of Sparta will chair the committee, with Avery Schermmer of Granite City, and Pat Harkins of Granite City as vice-chairmen, in the event that Becker is out of town.

BAC's director of personnel and the college's official affirmative action officer, James Burkett, will serve as staff liaison to the committee. Karen Bussen will handle any clerical duties necessary to carry out the search. Mrs. Bussen is secretary to Vice-President for Administrative Services, James J. Hines.

The board authorized Burkett and the Presidential Search Consultation Services group to prepare and place ads for the presidential position in appropriate professional journals, using a deadline for applications of June 1. Other time lines will be established in future meetings.

Qualifications for presidential aspirants were established. Those qualifications will be printed by the college, along with a description of the college, its mission, and the area it serves, and distributed widely to potential applicants.

Qualifications listed as necessary are: Management skills — the college is a complex institution which must be well-managed. The educational community must have complete confidence that the president is running an efficient operation within a context of concern about educational quality.

The president must have the ability to develop a team approach to the leadership and management of the College. It is essential that the president have a good understanding or grasp of financial accountability and successful experience in this area of management. The president must be able to demonstrate effective written and oral communication.

Education — The president should demonstrate scholarly competence, which would preferably include the earned doctorate degree from an accredited college or university.

Successful experience — The president should have significant senior level administrative experience in higher education, demonstrated ability to work effectively with Boards of Trustees, public officials, and executives in private industry.

Strong, forceful leadership — The president must possess a strong, forceful personality. Any new president will face some very tough decisions in the future. These decisions will require a person of self-confidence and strength.

Collective bargaining experience — the president must understand and accept the concept of collective bargaining. The college has employee unions, and the union concept is widely accepted in this area. Successful experience in dealing with employee unions will be preferable in any president.

Interest in educational quality — the president must be concerned about educational quality, be committed to the on-going assessment of college needs, and be supportive of innovative approaches to existing or future needs. The college must aggressively and creatively respond to community needs under presidential leadership.

Effectiveness in personal relationships — the president must be able to relate to a broad range of people, faculty, board and community. The president's commitment to bring people together without inappropriate compromise on fundamental issues is essential.

Unquestioned integrity — the president must not necessarily exclude a person whose experience and style of the comprehensive community college. This would not necessarily exclude a person whose experience has largely been in another type of institution, for there are outstanding educational leaders who embrace diversity in higher education and who can be genuine advocates for all types of institutions.

Community involvement — the college requires a president who is a "community person." Since the college service area includes several municipalities, it will be important that the President establish links with each community in the district.

Ethanol plant due at prison

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — A 500,000-gallon ethanol plant, expected to save the state $2.5 million in gasoline costs yearly, will soon be built at the state prison in Vienna.

The plant is expected to begin production by Nov. 1. Howard Skolnik, head of correctional industries, said the ethanol produced there will be sold to the state for use in producing 5 million gallons of gasoline for state vehicles, at an expected savings to the state of 50 cents a gallon.

Some state vehicles may also be converted to use pure ethanol, Skolnik said.

Bids will be taken for the construction of the plant, which will be built by an outside agency, Skolnik said, and the operation will be managed in cooperation with Southeastern Illinois Community College at Harrisburg, which has recently developed a curriculum leading to a degree in management of ethanol plants.

The plant will run seven days a week, round-the-clock, 52 weeks a year, Skolnik said, and will provide jobs for 40 inmates, who will work under five civilian employees.

One bushel of corn produces between two and 2.5 gallons of ethanol, he said, so the 200,000 bushels of corn will be needed in the operation. The department produces corn among other crops in its agriculture programs, but does not raise that amount, so the remainder will be purchased elsewhere. The department's farms will produce enough for about 100 days of operation, Skolnik said, and the department is working with the Department of Conservation which leases large tracts to area farmers in return for a share of the crop. Plans call for the Corrections Department to get this corn from the Conservation Department, he said, and in turn give the Department of Conservation a "cut rate" on ethanol for its vehicles.

PROVOST APPLICANTS BEING INTERVIEWED

Two men finalists for SUIE vice-president and provost are Dr. Paul S. Salter, dean of the College of Arts and Humanities of Washington University, St. Louis, Kan., and Dr. Barbara J. Teeters, vice-chancellor for academic affairs, University of Arkansas at Monticello. Dr. Salter will visit the SUIE campus today and Tuesday, and Dr. Teeters will be here for interviews April 11-12. Scheduled for visits and interviews last week were Dr. Ronald Appibbaum, dean of the School of Humanities for California State University at Long Beach, and Dr. John King Gamble Jr., head of the Division of Behavioral Sciences for Pennsylvania State University-Berthel College.

Those wishing to attend the Saturday luncheon are asked to make a reservation by Tuesday, April 7, with Donna Daisy, at 876-8180.

Registration, costing $25 for adults and $10 for students, will be accepted between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Friday on the second floor of the SUIE University Center.

Peer pressure and leadership to be studied by 3 Madison students

By LISA LUTZ

For the Press-Record

The Madison Board of Education will be sending two more students to Operative Snowball, a peer leadership program for high school students, from April 24 to April 26 in Madison.

Social Worker Sue Borstein informed the board that the teachers union will provide money for the enrollment of one student, but sending two more would be more effective.

"This program is not for kids who are problematic, but for the ones who have leadership potential," Miss Borstein told the board in a meeting Thursday night.

"Two or three would be a good number. One doesn't have much support," she concluded.

High school counselors already have selected some candidates for the program. The program, which was very successful in Rockford in 1978, helps the 'click' leaders to constructively redirect their leadership potential.

The deadline for this seminar is April 8. It is a weekend activity and the students will not miss any school, he said.

The board also selected John P. Petish as the new district arts teacher in the district. Petish, a Granite City resident, has previously been a substitute teacher in Madison. He also taught school in Florida, and is an architectural draftsman at Christian Northeast Hospital in St. Louis.

The board has advertised this position for six months with no success. "It is hard to find people in this field," said Superintendent John Palchek.

Changing student dismissal time at the Harris and Louis Baer schools was another point of discussion. When the Middle School is dismissed, some students are disturbing those still in class at Harris and Louis Baer. They are said to be running through the halls and directing obscene gestures at teachers and pupils.

Palchek suggested that the Harris and Louis Baer students be dismissed 10 minutes early so they would be enroute home by the time the Middle School students pass Harris and Louis Baer. The earlier dismissal time would be only for the remaining six weeks of school.

Board Member Paul Bargiel objected to the idea. "This problem did not just start," said Bargiel. "It went on last year and the year before. This is just a token effort to do something for six weeks," he stated.

After much discussion, the board decided that all three schools will be dismissed at 3 p.m.

A year-end summary report from the ICBERS II energy survey stated that the overall energy usage in the district was reduced by 7.80 percent in the 1980 year.

The board members agreed to purchase reflective film to alleviate glare in the typing and the office practice room at the high school. The adhesive film is transparent and helps to reduce energy costs. The total cost, including cleaning preparation of the windows and installation, is $465. Howard Contracting will do the work.

A request to purchase an arc welder was submitted and approved by the board, as the old welder is inoperable. The approximate cost is $624 including the welder and needed accessories.

In other business: —A $2,072 bid from Granite City Glass Co. for new doors needed at the Louis Baer School was accepted. The price includes installation.

—The board granted permission to the American Cancer Society to allow schools to participate in the "Send a Mouse to College" program. Donations purchase laboratory mice for cancer research.

—Permission also was granted to the Trinity Tabernacle Church to use the grounds behind Madison High School for its annual Easter Egg hunt, scheduled for April 18 from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Spring carnival at St. Mary's

St. Mary—St. Mark Parent, Teachers and Associate Members group will host its fourth annual Spring Carnival on Friday, April 24.

The event will take place from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Englehart Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue, Madison.

Carnival games, movies, a cake walk, booths and a Cardinal Football Highlights film will be featured, according to Georgann Krakowicki, project chairman.

CYS involved in statewide conference

A statewide conference on Options in Alternative Education will take place Friday and Saturday, April 10 and April 11, in the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The two-day series of seminars and general sessions is being sponsored by Coordinated Youth Services of Granite City, Southern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, Illinois State Board of Education and SUIE. The conference will concentrate on the alternative education program. It is the first of its type to be held in Illinois.

Land grants approved

SPRINGFIELD — A total of 20 Land and Water Conservation (LAWCON) grants in northeastern Illinois have been approved by the state Conservation Advisory Board for funding for land acquisition or site development projects. The projects, 11 for development and nine for acquisition, have received approval by Dr. David Kenney, conservation director as well, and been sent to Washington for final approval by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service (HCRS), which is expected to give a final decision on the projects shortly after the start of the year.

The grants provide reimbursement for up to 50 percent of costs of the projects, which the local communities must first provide for themselves.

Development projects which have been approved by the advisory council, and final approval by Kenney, include:

DuPage County: Addison Park District, $4270,500 for neighborhood park development, Carol Stream Park District, $48,044 for Armstrong Park and Trail Development, Village of Carol Stream, $200,000 for community park, Forest Preserve District of DuPage County, $124,000 for York Woods development, and Itasca Park District, $7,223 for Benson Park.

Kane County: Fox Valley Park District, $500,000 for Waubesa Lake, Geneva Park District, $283,543 for Riverside Trail, Dundee Township Park District, $72,500 for Maiden Lane Park development and St. Charles Park District, $265,000 for Pottawatomie Riverside Park.

Will County: Village of Park Forest, $61,250 for Central Park development in Cook and Will Counties, and Plainfield Township Park District, $249,000 for Ottawa Avenue Park development.

Silver Bells honor 4

The Silver Bells Senior Citizens of Madison and Venice celebrated the birthdays of four members at its meeting last week in the Venice Recreation Center.

Honored were Mary Latham, William Spencer, Jessie Reeves and Cleo Isaac, who was accompanied to the event by members of his family.

A potluck dinner was served with the meal including two hams donated by the Venice Township supervisor.

The 70 members and guests attending were welcomed by Mrs. Elizabeth Payne.

A musical interlude featured a vocal solo by Mrs. Reeves and a duet by Rosalee Jackson and Lucille Wiley.

Group singing was led by the Rev. Doris Johnson. Informative talks were given by Mrs. Gertrude Young and the Rev. Johnson. Games were played to conclude the meeting.

Ruling on dam costly—McPike

State Representative Jim McPike (D-Alton) has charged the attorney general and the Department of Revenue and the Bureau of Employment Security with incompetence and negligence in ruling on construction of the new Alton Lock and Dam is subject to Missouri laws and not Illinois laws.

"Their decision will cost Illinois $5 million in revenue over the life of the construction of the new Alton Lock and Dam," McPike charged.

"The new lock and dam and the cofferdam used during construction are located entirely within the State of Illinois, but because the contractor's trailer is located on the Missouri side of the river, these state agencies have ruled that the contractor and employees will pay Missouri income taxes, not Illinois taxes.

"Also, the contractor gets by with paying Missouri unemployment and workers' compensation insurance rates simply because his trailer is just across the Missouri State Line," McPike said.

McPike noted the state line separating the two states runs along the middle of the western slough of the Mississippi River at the construction site. All construction work is underway just east of that slough, McPike said.

"I have asked the three state agencies involved to review this obviously incompetent and incredible decision," McPike said. "I wish I knew how they determined that the Alton Lock and Dam contractor was subject to Missouri laws when anyone who can read a map can tell the entire construction project is located within the State of Illinois."

"Giving away $5 million in revenue to Missouri is not my idea of improving the Illinois business climate," McPike said.

County industrial base is expanding

Madison County, the tenth largest industrial county in the state, gained three new manufacturing or processing companies last year.

The 1.4 percent increase, documented in the newly published Illinois Manufacturers Directory, brings the current county total to 218 firms.

According to the 1981 directory, the county's largest industrial city is Madison, which has 18 companies, was the only city to decrease, losing one firm.

The majority of the county's cities showed no change from last year. Highland still has 32 companies, Edwardsville 18, Troy 12, and Marine and Worden, three each.

Pay hikes for park workers

A pay increase of 5 percent across the board for Granite City Park District employees granted by the Park Board last week, will become effective May 1, it was reported Wednesday.

The board, in addition to granting salary increases for regular employees, also increased the wage scale of seasonal employees from $1.95 to $2.15 per hour.

Pay step increases based on length of service also will become effective.

The park district's salary and those of the recreation board secretary, treasurer and attorney will follow the board's reorganization meeting later this month.

The board also voted to hire George Wilkins, former pool supervisor, as recreation supervisor for the summer.

Also hired was Billy Grote, Alton recreation secretary. He replaces Ruth Smith who was commended by the board for her 12 years of service.

RISE IN STATE JOBS

State Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported Thursday there were 119,842 state employees in February, an increase of 1,754 over the previous month, resulting from the hiring of staff, student workers and others in the state university system.

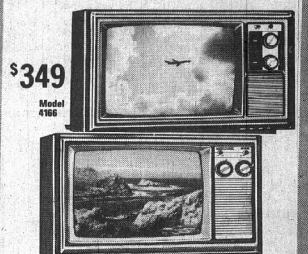

In Good Spirits!
by GEORGE CREWS

Adventure not mystique is beginning to be a key phrase in American wine drinking. Though not as accustomed to having a bottle of wine on the table as Europeans, Americans tend to be more adventuresome in their wine samplings. Europeans often tend to drink only the wines which are produced in their own region; Americans will usually have tried a Chablis from France, a Chianti from Italy and a Riesling from Germany, along with some of the many different wines produced in California. By sampling many different grapes we have also come to realize enjoying wine is not a mysterious, complicated rite. All you need to enjoy a good bottle of wine is a corkscrew and two glasses... sharing makes it better.
